Shoot to kill protesters, Kazakh prez tells troops

President Kassym-Jomart Tokayev on Friday authorised security forces to shoot to kill those participating in the unrest. Dramatically escalating the efforts to stamp out violent anti-government protests, the President warned that forces have been ordered to "fire without warning". "Those who don't surrender will be eliminated," Tokayev said in a televised address to the nation, referring to those involved in the turmoil as "terrorists," "bandits" and "militants" | P19

Growth to be tad slower in FY22 than projected

Advance estimates suggest the economy will grow at 9.2% against RBI's 9.5% forecast

SUNITHA NATTI

THE first advance estimates of the national income, released on Friday, show the country's GDP growing at 9.2% in FY22 against a contraction on 7.3% in FY21. The projected growth rate is lower than RBI's estimate of 9.5% and the government's own earlier indications of achieving 10-11% growth.

Real GDP or GDP at constant prices in FY22 is expected at ₹147.54 lakh crore, against the provisional estimate of GDP for FY21 at ₹135.13 lakh crore. Nominal GDP, considered an approximate indicator of aggregate demand, is estimated at ₹232.15 lakh crore in FY22 translating to an enviable 17.6% growth over FY21. Gross value added at basic prices is likely to grow at 8.6% in FY22 compared to a 6.2% contraction in FY21.

Fiscal 2021-21's estimated national output may whistle past the graveyard, regaining and even surpassing the pre-pandemic level of ₹145 lakh crore seen in FY20. While the services sector is putting on a fight, it is on the borderline of FY20 level, but with both agriculture and industry likely breaching the pre-pandemic perimeter, GDP growth appears to be decidedly moving north of 7-8% in FY23. According to the Central Statistics Office, agriculture is expected to grow at 3.9% in FY22 from 3.6% in FY21, while manufacturing and trade, and hotel sector are likely to expand at 12.5% and 11.9%, respectively this fiscal against a decline seen last fiscal.

Ashoka positive, CM tested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE sudden surge in Covid19 cases in the state, especially in Bengaluru, and Revenue Minister R Ashoka testing positive created a flutter in the state government, including the Chief Minister's Office (CMO). Ashoka on Friday tweeted, "I have tested Covid positive. I am healthy and request those who came in contact with me to get themselves tested."

Sources said soon after Ashoka's test results returned positive on Thursday, he rushed to a private hospital in the city for a check-up. He later isolated himself at his residence. Though he did not attend the Cabinet meeting on Thursday that was chaired by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, he took part in official programmes and a meeting at the BJP office on Wednesday. Sources said, "The CM and the entire staff at the CMO were subjected to RAT and RT-PCR tests and the reports were negative." P7

Covid -ve report must for rail, bus travellers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IT is not just airports, the Karnataka government will now conduct surveillance of interstate travellers arriving at bus stands and railway stations, too, where passengers will have to produce negative RT-PCR reports. Interstate border checking is also set to become more stringent.

This was among several decisions taken at a high-level meeting chaired by Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar, and attended by senior officials of Health department, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagar Palike (BBMP) and state Covid Technical Advisory Committee, on Friday.

Bringing back the isolation measures used during the previous two pandemic waves, Sudhakar said that once a person tests positive, the command centre will call them, do tele-triaging and guide them for isolation or hospitalisation. Around 10,000 house surgeons will be part of the tele-counselling and tele-triaging, which will become important towards January-end when the state expects hospitals to get overwhelmed.

"Though the Central government policy is to only test symptomatic contacts of Covid patients, Karnataka has gone a step further and decided to test all primary contacts. We are mulling over introducing a green pass or universal vaccine pass for people to enter public places, such as metro, bus, malls, theatres, markets, restaurants, etc," he said.

Karnataka has achieved 99 per cent coverage of the first Covid dose and 80 per cent of the second dose, ranking third in the country. P5

SC green light to NEET OBC reservation, amber to EWS

KANU SARDA @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday gave its green light to NEET-UG and NEET-PG counselling for 2021-22 admissions while upholding the validity of the notification to allow 27% reservation for Other Backward Classes (OBC) in the all India quota seats in state-run government medical institutions.

A two-judge bench headed by Justice D Y Chandrachud also permitted 10% reservation for the Economically Weaker Section (EWS), with a ₹8 lakh annual income as the threshold for this academic year.

But for future admissions, the court will hear petitions challenging the EWS criteria in the third week of March.

The bench said submissions by all parties necessitate a detailed interim order on the applicability of the EWS criteria. "The formulation of the reasons in the interim order on the EWS reservation would take some time. The validity of the OBC reservation in the AIQ seats in NEET-PG and NEET-UG is upheld for reasons to follow," the bench added.

Counselling had to be suspended from November 25 after the Centre informed the court about its decision to revisit the criteria for determining the EWS. The Centre had sought four weeks for a review committee to file its report. Its submission followed the bench's posers on the logic and study before deciding on the income cap.

A three-member review committee led by Ajay Bhushan Pandey, former finance secretary, submitted its report on December 31, supporting the ₹8 lakh annual income limit as a reasonable. By during the hearing on Thursday, Justice Chandrachud observed that the Pandey panel was trying to justify the EWS criteria post facto. "It appears what the committee has sought to do is offer a justification for the ₹8 lakh criterion. They have tried to justify the cut-off post facto."

MEDICAL STUDENTS HEAVE A SIGH OF RELIEF

A federation of resident doctors that had protested the delay in NEET-PG counselling in Delhi, heaved a sigh of relief and hailed the SC order, calling it a historic day. The agitation was led by the Federation of Resident Doctors' Association

COORDINATION CRUCIAL FOR CITY DEVELOPMENT

Civic agencies should work together to improve infrastructure, say officials

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai promising to review Bengaluru development and announcing mega funds for the city's infrastructure improvement, experts and officials have pointed out to the lack of coordination between government agencies and called for better management.

There have been numerous instances where a road recently asphalted by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has been dug up by the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) to lay or clean sewage lines. New roads have even been dug up by Bangalore Electricity Supply Company Ltd (Bescom) for utility works. Citizens and experts suggest that government targets can only be met when there is coordination and all agencies work under one umbrella.

> Whenever there are issues, the BBMP is blamed. Citizens fail to realise that there are other agencies which are also responsible.
> An UDD official

Former BBMP commissioners and even serving officials from the Urban Development Department (UDD) and BBMP had proposed that the government bring all agencies under BBMP for effective and coordinated project works in the city, but the proposal is still gathering dust. "Whenever there are bad roads, potholes or other issues, the BBMP is blamed. Citizens fail to realise that there are other agencies which are also responsible. So, it is high time the government addresses this issue," said a UDD official.

The officials also said, "Earlier, when T M Vijay Bhaskar was chief secretary, regular coordination meetings used to be held. Now, they have all stopped and so every thing is back to square one, where no one knows which agency is doing what work on which road. If the government wants roads to be completely pothole-free, not be dug up and infrastructure projects completed on time, it is important that all agencies work together."

The CM recently held a metropolitan planning committee meeting with all city agencies for coordination. But implementation of the Bengaluru Metropolitan Act was not considered, pointed out Srinivas Alavilli, head, Civic Participation, Janaagraha.

He said the root cause of problems in Bengaluru is the weak governance structure. The city needs a proper governance model. All the agencies report to the minister. Instead, they should report to the elected representatives in the BBMP council.

'Hotel guests with prior bookings can travel'

BENGALURU: With confusion prevailing over weekend travel and closure of hotels, the secretary to the Tourism Department, Pankaj Kumar Pandey, on Friday issued a statement clarifying on the issue. As per the orders, tourists who have booked their weekend stay with valid vouchers are permitted to travel in their cars, taxis or other means of transport. The order also states that there are no restrictions for in-house guests staying in hotels and resorts, all facilities will be kept open for in-house guests only, and guests can check in and check out of hotels with proof of bookings. Safari in forest areas and sanctuaries is permitted by following Covid-appropriate behaviour, he added.

Centre seeks details on IT hub mobility plans

S. LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Union Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs has written to the State's Urban Development Department and the Bengaluru Metro Rail Corporation Ltd, seeking an explanation on the holistic mobility plans and infrastructure development work taken up in the city's IT hubs of Bellandur and Mahadevapura.

The letter is in response by a citizen of Bengaluru demanding an explanation. The letter read, "Urban transport is an integral part of urban development. It is requested that necessary action may be taken on the concerns raised by the petitioner in the grievances pertaining to Bengaluru."

The petitioner Vishnu Prasad, president of Kasavanahalli Lake Development Forum, which played a key role in the 'Save Bellandur' campaign, said," I had filed a grievance on lack of mobility infrastructure and lack of integrated mobility plan. The dropping and deprioritising of Sarjapur Road Metro was also one of our grievances."

'Vataara Shale' best option to teach students, feel teachers, experts

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @Bengaluru

TEACHERS and scientists believe that Vataara Shale, which was the predecessor to Vidyagama, which focussed on interactive learning, would be the best mode from among the options available, to impart education to children.

Vataara Shale or village school is a micro-level intervention, where around 20 students gather in an open space in a village, and each subject teacher takes class once a week, ensuring continuity in education.

With a lack of chalk and board method, there was a need for alternative methods of pedagogy -- and the 2020 pandemic gave birth to Math Mela, a hands-on activity-based math learning class that would include children from multiple classes.

A school teacher conducting an online class | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

As the duration of these models was short, there was insufficient time to run an outcome analysis, an official said. But the efficacy was seen with 8-10 lakh out of 12 lakh children in the Kalaburagi division engaged in learning. It had the largest number of Vataara Shales at 33,000.

The division saw other interventions -- Oduva Belaku in collaboration with the RDPR department that took activity-based learning inside panchayat libraries. With this, eight lakh students are registered with panchayat libraries, said Nalin Atul, Additional Commissioner of Public Instruction, Kalaburagi division.

ASI yet to restore damaged walls of Devanahalli Fort

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

HAVING come under pressure from citizens, historians, travel enthusiasts and history lovers, the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) officials said that the restoration of broken down Devanahalli Fort walls will be completed by March 2022.

However, even after setting a deadline, work has not yet started. The interior and exterior walls of the fort continue to resemble a rubble pile.

To put pressure citizens and history lovers have now also started to take to social media to point to the urgency, which has led to to online shaming of the State Government and the ASI officials.

In November, 2021, visitors to the site, in Chikkaballapur, had noticed the collapsed walls of the centrally protected heritage site and reported it to the state government.

But officials from ASI visited the site only in January 2022, to take details and send it to the central government, for funds to re- construct the collapsed interior and exterior walls.

History enthusiasts alleged, "ASI used to undertake only symbolic clearing of weeds around the walls, fort area and near the moats and lake. But was not maintained properly.

A damaged wall of the ignored historic fort

Incase of other properties, thorough maintenance works are taken up. But this fort has been neglected, despite its proximity to Bengaluru. The moat was never cleaned up also."

ASI officials have blamed the bad weather conditions for the wall collapse. Bipin Chandra, Superintending Archaeologist, ASI, told The New Express that the walls collapsed due to heavy rainfall experienced in the part of the city. Teams have visited the sites and an estimate report of around Rs 1-1.5 crore has been prepared and sent to the central government.

Noted historian Arun Prasad said that the fort was the strongest of all and bad weather cannot be the reason for wall collapse.

The fort was built by Mallabyragowda, ancestor of Kempegowda in 1501. Later in the 18th century, Mysuru dynasty conquered it and then it was under Hyder Ali, who strengthened it with granite stones. Tipu was born in the entrance of the fort in 1750 and British conquered it in 1791 during the Bangalore- Mysuru war. The fort walls were still not damaged. It was one of the finest forts and was compared to the old Bangalore fort in shape, size and bastion design, Prasad added.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

08th January: With increasing numbers of people going into space, astrologers will soon have a problem casting horoscopes on other planets. Actually, we first did this at the first Moon landing fifty years ago. I suspect that future astrologers will guess that Earth's location in the horoscope of someone born on other planets will represent their home!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Sun and Uranus are just two planets now highlighting the need for drastic change, so you must take matters in hand and insist that whatever happens suits your interests. You may have to cope with circumstances which are none of your making, but you'll manage as well as ever.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There doesn't seem to be any way that financial complications can be avoided. However, you can minimise the possible risks by steering clear of speculative offers and adopting an attitude that is both ethical and idealistic. Your selfless actions will attract great respect from people who had no idea that you had it in you!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The weekend is here and, with the Moon still endowing you with its emotional power, you are in fine form indeed. However, your moods may be subject to sudden swings. Don't blame family members for problems which are not their fault, and which may be due to your own concerns about the future.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The Moon will increase its role in your sign shortly, but not just yet. This is why this is such a private time. You do not want to be forced out of your Cancerian shell just now, at least not until you have completed your plans, and anyone who tries to drag you out must risk the consequences.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Social stars are powerful and you should attempt to get out and mix. The chances of a confrontation are almost nil while the prospects for pleasure and enjoyment are excellent. You pay your money and you take your choice - and hopefully you'll choose what is best for everyone.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Apart from the odd emotional outburst you should have a pleasant day. If you have any say in the matter, do try and make sure that partners put their work to one side and relax for a while. The trouble with some people you're close to is that they have over-committed themselves, and can't seem to do anything about it.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The time has come for a great deal of plain speaking, whether your current complaints are emotional, practical or deeply personal. The present moment being soutterly auspicious, gives you the opportunity to deal with all awkward issues sooner rather than later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You certainly take a great deal of convincing, but then you wouldn't be a true Scorpio if you weren't suspicious and sceptical of other people's intentions. Partners can only learn from your questions: the answers could reveal fresh feelings and new desires.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Jupiter, your ruling planet, is still so strongly placed that by rights you ought to be celebrating your good fortune. However, there is still some way further to go before you - or anyone else - can fully appreciate the extent of your achievements.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Capricorns are naturally proud people, often with good reason. However, you won't get very far unless you acknowledge that other people also have their needs and wants, and that these must be satisfied. The way to get ahead in love is to shell out some extra cash - so pay the bill and pick up the tab!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Lunar alignments make for an enjoyable day if you keep other, more serious issues, to a minimum. You have every opportunity to create a pleasurable atmosphere, but don't start prying into partners' secret lives. They won't appreciate it - and will certainly get their own back!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Romantic and social influences favour discretion if not outright secrecy. This is definitely a time for cosy gatherings rather than noisy groups. Your major costs may result from social commitments but, then, can you really put a price on fun with friends?

The meeting is likely to evolve a strategy on how to tackle the government's imposition of the Covid restrictions, especially on Sunday, when the padayatra will kick off, sources said.

"I had written to the CM to withdraw the weekend curfew,

KPCC chief D K Shivakumar addresses a press conference on the Mekadatu Padyatra in Bengaluru on Friday but he has responded through the Deputy Commissioner clarifying that the padayatra will not be allowed, presuming that we will be in the thousands. But certainly, we both will walk, seeking the implementation of the Mekedatu irrigation project," said Shivakumar.

Ramanagara Deputy Commissioner Dr K Rakesh Kumar has asked the Congress leaders not to go ahead with the padayatra. "They have not intimated us about the padayatra, or the CLP meeting, seeking permission. Since I have got to know through the Superintendent of Police that they are holding a rally, with 4,000 to 5,000 people expected to take part, a notice has been issued to the KPCC president. The weekend curfew is in place and we will take all measures to maintain law and order," he told TNIE.

The padayatra is likely to witness a high-voltage drama as Congress leaders have dared the administration to arrest them "on the pretext of the Covid restriction".

"There is a yardstick to clamp a curfew or lockdown and they cannot do it when the positivity rate is less than 2 per cent. Our former health minister had conducted his own probe and found that the cases were inflated by the government. We demand a probe by a sitting judge over this," urged Shivakumar reiterating that the padayatra will be taken out by adhering to all the norms. He also added that six ministers in the government have also opposed the curfew.

Cong men in a bind over weekend curfew, govt warnings on Covid

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

THOUGH the countdown for the Congress' Mekedatu Padayatra has begun, the State Government's imposition of the weekend curfew and warnings of action against those violating the norms, has created confusion among partymen.

Although Congress legislators and leaders have made vehicle arrangements and mobilised people at the panchayat level to proceed to Mekedatu, many are doing a rethink fearing police action and the virus spread in the last couple of days.

Congress leaders have accused the government of conspiring to stall the padayatra and ensure that it does not receive good public response. Local party leaders, who were told not to violate the weekend curfew, have decided to join their leaders on Monday. They have booked buses, trucks to take Congress workers to Mekedatu where many of them will walk for a day and return home.

Those interested to continue for the next couple of days will be provided with all facilities, including accommodation and food.

The Mysuru and Chamrajnagar district Congress units have made preparations for the rally and legislators are assigned to bring in people to rallies from Kollegal, Hanur, Gundlupet and Chamrajnagar. Chamrajnagar MLA Puttaranga Shetty has sought details of Congressmen keen to take part in the padayatra in all panchayats to make transportation arrangements.

Meanwhile, Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) working president R Druvanarayan held a meeting with Mysuru City Congress president R Murthy, district president Vijayakumar and others to get details about the arrangements made to bring people from Mysuru and also from neighbouring Kodagu district.

Will take steps to end malnutrition, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday said specific measures will be taken to eradicate malnutrition in Raichur and Yadgir districts and Chincholi in Kalaburagi district, and added that fund allocation will be made for the purpose in the budget.

During an interaction with NITI Aayog (SGD) consultant Sanyukta Samaddar and senior officers, the chief minister reviewed the progress achieved in Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) and measures required to be taken to meet them.

The Chief Minister said funds will be provided in the next budget for the Kalyana Karnataka Regional Development Board to improve the education, health and living standards in the region by utilising the human resources and organisations of Kalyana Karnataka.

Karnataka's Sustainable Development Index, which was at 66 in 2019, has risen to 72, said a statement issued by the Chief Minister's Office. The state needs to improve in health insurance, malnutrition among teenage girls and pregnant women, rural drinking water supply, hygiene and cooking gas supply.

The Multiple Poverty Index is useful in taking up focused work on these aspects at district and taluk levels, the NITI Aayog consultant stated during the meeting.

Deputy Chairperson of the State Planning Board, B J Puttaswamy, said the state rankings in the SDGs have improved in the last two years and measures will be taken to further improve it.

The state needs to improve in SDGs in zero hunger, sex ratio, clean water sanitation, climate action, employment generation and basic infrastructure, he said. Measures are being taken to improve those parameters.

BJP seeks President's rule in Punjab

Bengaluru: Senior Karnataka BJP leaders on Friday demanded imposition of President's rule in Punjab after the breach in Prime Minister's security. A delegation of senior BJP leaders, including party state president and MP Nalin Kumar Kateel, Ministers Dr Ashwath Narayan, S T Somashekar and Byrati Basavaraj, met Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot at Raj Bhavan and submitted a memorandum addressed to the President. They appealed for dismissal of the Punjab government and accused it of conspiring with anti-national forces. There is a conspiracy against the PM and other leaders and the Punjab government conspiring with such forces is a dangerous development, the BJP leaders said and added that the SPG provides close protection to the PM, but it is the responsibility of the state police to sanitise the route. A probe has been ordered into the security breach. ENS

RARING TO GO

Rested well, Siddaramaiah packs his bags for rally

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

OPPOSITION leader in the Assembly, Siddaramaiah, who led the Congress from the front during the Bengaluru-Ballari padayatra against illegal mining, is now busy preparing himself for the Mekadatu padayatra along with Karntaka Pradesh Congress Committee president D K Shivakumar.

Siddaramaiah, who had declared that there was no going back on the padayatra and that he will walk along with Shivakumar to Bengaluru, has got his gear ready with a new pair of shoes, medical kit, caps, vaseline and water bottles. He had also rested for two days at a farm house on the outskirts of the city along with a few Congress leaders.

The AHINDA leader's personal staff and gunman will also join him on rotation during the 10-day padayatra covering 160 km.

A senior Congress leader, who did not want to be named, said that he was shocked when the 74-year-old Siddaramaiah said that he was mentally prepared for the long walk. "Being younger than him, I have also decided to join him on all the 10 days and will galvanise support for the party while exposing both the BJP and JDS," he said.

JDS plans its own water yatra, launch on Jan 26

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AFTER labelling the Congress' Mekedatu Padayatra a "gimmick", the JDS has now come out with its own water yatra and a masterplan, which it claims will help the state harness its water resources better.

The JDS plans to launch its 'Janata Jaladhare' yatra on January 26. The party is also ready with a 'Ganga Rath', a modified vehicle, which will be used for the campaign, former chief minister and JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy revealed to the media on Friday. The yatra will be launched on Republic Day and continue till the 2023 polls, covering 51 places along the banks of rivers in Karnataka.

Kumaraswamy said, "I have said on many occasions previously that the year 2022 is to strengthen the JDS organisation." He said they will inform people about the injustice being meted by the Centre to the state's water resource needs.

Political commentators are now wondering if this development will set off a "water war" among political parties. The JDS unease with the Congress padayatra was evident when party top leaders H D Deve Gowda and H D Revanna termed it a "gimmick" and Kumaraswamy, for the umpteenth time on Friday, criticised Siddaramaiah before announcing the 'Janata Jaladhare'.

HC dismisses plea against Khandre's Assembly poll win

BENGALURU: The Karnataka High Court has rejected the election petition challenging the election of Congress candidate Eshwar Bhimanna Khandre from Bhalki Assembly Constituency in Bidar District in 2018. The petition was filed by defeated BJP candidate D K Sidram.

Justice Krishna S Dixit rejected the petition, noting that the submission of the petitioner's counsel that the "abnormally high polling" during the last one hour and enormous delay in transporting the EVMs raise a strong suspicion of bogus voting and tampering with EVMS to favour Khandre is a "bit difficult to countenance". ENS

LACK OF BURIAL GROUNDS

In 4,370 villages across Karnataka, the dead have no resting place

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

IN thousands villages across the state, the dead have no final resting place. As many as 4,370 villages (close to 20 per cent of the total) in Karnataka do not have burial grounds. The State Government has now initiated steps to procure land for the purpose and is expected to finalise it by March-end.

At a recent meeting of district deputy commissioners and zilla panchayat chief executive officers, various issues including lack of space and lack of burial grounds in many villages across the state were discussed. As per the data available with TNIE, of the total 29,438 villages, 4,370 of them do not have burial grounds at all. Most of these villages are in Uttara Kannada, Shivamogga, Belagavi, Hassan, Chitradurga, Raichir and some are in Bagalkot, Kalaburagi, Yadgir, Gadag and Koppal.

On the other hand, only four villages in Dakshina Kannada, six in Chikkaballapur and eight in Bengaluru Rural district do not have burial grounds.

Principal Secretary, Revenue Department, Tushar Girinath, said that in some villages, mainly in the Malnad region and Dakshina Kannada district, villagers used forest areas as burial ground. "In these places, the DCs will write to the Forest Department seeking handover of land to the Revenue Department and, in turn, they will be given alternate land," he said.

"Other than this, wherever there is no land for burial sites, the State Government can make use of Gomala land or even purchase land from individual land holders," he said. According to him, they are likely to get burial grounds for each village across the state by March-end. "We are hoping that once the land is procured, it will be developed and converted as burial grounds in the next one year," he added.

Bengaluru city too is facing a shortage of crematoria for many years now as the civic agency has not made arrangements for new burial grounds, even though the city's population increased manifold. During the Covid second wave, the district administration and BBMP set up makeshift crematoria in open grounds on the city's outskits at Kurubarahalli (Bengaluru South), Giddanahalli (near Hosakote) and Bidaraguppe (near Anekal). However, these were shut after a decline in the number of deaths.

Girinath said, "The same land will be used to put up permanent structures. We will provide all basic amenities here."

Set norms for self-test +ves: Experts

They fear that huge number of people could be left out of the total count

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

THE Indian Council for Medical Research (ICMR) and the State Government should issue necessary guidelines to encourage reporting of positive tests among people using self-test kits and RAT tests by private labs which are currently not being reported, medical experts in the city have suggested.

Speaking to TNIE, Dr Vishal Rao, Dean, HCG, and also a member of Covid-19 task force, said, "People using self-test kits and use of rapid antigen tests by labs are not being reported and this could potentially lead to delayed medical intervention or even increasing events of spread if people who tested positive are not isolated."

Experts also fear this could also raise concerns about under-reporting or missing cases of huge numbers, like it could be happening in cities like Delhi and Mumbai. "Getting an RT-PCR test, on the other hand, is a more dependable and safer option with lesser restrictions and can also be used to detect how recent the infection is," says Dr Vivek Anand Padegal, Director - Pulmonology, Fortis Hospitals, Bannerghatta Road.

He explains that there are also risks of false positives by using rapid self-test kits. Interestingly, acidic foods, soft drinks, sweet lime and other similar substances can all result in a false positive. Also, if a person fails to notify the government after testing positive with a home test kit, the isolation norms, contact tracing and other procedures may be disrupted, he explains.

Dr Vivek adds, "As a result, accurate test readings are critical, not for confirming the infection, but also to equip the system to deliver the necessary support including hospitalisation, as many resources may be unavailable without proper diagnosis and results. Considering the global health scenario, this could have an impact on public health since the Omicron variant is spreading at an unforeseen rate."

'No lockdown planned'

KARNATAKA still has a stock of 64.27 lakh doses. Guidelines will be issued on who is eligible for hospitalisation as 85 per cent of the people currently positive are asymptomatic. VIPs, business people and those with influence and contacts will not be allowed to secure hospital beds needlessly.

All hospitals, especially in Bengaluru, will have nodal officers from the Indian Police Service (IPS), Indian Administrative Service (IAS), Bengaluru Water Supply & Sewerage Board (BWSSB), Bengaluru Electricity Sypply Company (Bescom), or Arogya Mitra to ensure seamless bed allocation.

"We expect 5 per cent of the cases to require hospitalisation. Due to our good vaccine coverage, the numbers needing beds will be less. We need to monitor the remaining unvaccinated population. Uniform treatment protocol, discharge policy and quarantine guidelines will be released," Sudhakar added.

As per data shared by him, only 831 people have been admitted to hospitals out of 17,414 active cases (data as of January 5) and 700 are using general beds without oxygen.

At the meeting, the officials took stock of the medicines, testing kits, reagents, masks, and PPE kits available and the requirements that need to be procured.

In the last two waves, fake news on Covid was spread on social media. This time, the government intends to take action against those who indulge in such mischief. A panel of experts will be appointed as official spokespersons to speak to the media and public on Covid.

Rubbishing rumours of a lockdown, Sudhakar said no such move is being planned by the government as it will affect the lives and livelihoods of people.

PANDEMIC MANAGEMENT

State Covid war room wins national award

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Covid-19 war room on Friday received the national award under the category of using Information and Communications Technology (ICT) in management of the Covid-19 at the 24th national conference on e- governance in Hyderabad. War room head Munish Moudgil, who received the award, told TNIE that the facility is an e-governance solution for effective management, integrated response and approach.

"We are the support network for the Covid warriors in the forefront. We make their lives easy by giving the details they want to act upon. We are a support system for Covid management on the field and we work round the clock. Most of the staff members have not taken a single day off ever since the pandemic," Moudgil said.

The ward room was set up in March 2020 within just 2-3 days when the first wave hit, and a Corona watch mobile app was first created. Karnataka is the only state which has been using the app for contact tracing and Covid-19 watch. Now a patient management system, called the line list system, has been developed where all line lists of all patients, picked up from districts and taluks are spoken to. Triaging, testing and tracking is also done, he said.

Harayana has taken lessons from Karnataka on the estate war room. Also, during the first wave, then Puducherry Governor Kiran Bedi had contacted the war room for assistance and a team was sent for knowledge transfer. After this, every state tried it and are working on it.

"The pandemic needs a systematic and coordinated approach with IT for better working. In November 2020, Stanford University had evaluated the war room and had said that it was most effective in Covid-19 management. Our contact tracing model was picked by the Government of India in June-July 2020 and it had asked other states to implement it," Moudgil said.

The core team in the war room comprises around 20-30 people apart from coordinators, technical and other staff.

In the third wave now, the war room is striving to ensure effective information collection and systematic management. The team is now working on the listed core areas comprising bed management, oxygen supply, home isolation and test management.

14-fold rise in new cases across Karnataka in nine days

ENS @Bengaluru

THE fresh Covid-19 case load has increased 14-fold in the last nine days, with the numbers going from 566 new cases on December 29 to 8,449 on January 7. The last time the daily caseload crossed the 8,000 mark in Karnataka was on June 12 last year. The state tally now stands at 30,31,052. Bengaluru is taking a beating as 6,812 cases were recorded on Friday, taking the city's tally to 12,83,186.

Health Minister Sudhakar said that Omicron is expected to overtake all other strains and a high number of cases can be expected. "Currently, Bengaluru Urban and Rural, Mandya, Mysuru, Udupi and Kolar are reporting the highest number of cases. Hence, I will talk to respective district officials to take measures to bring down the positivity rate," Sudhakar added.

Active cases in the state, which were below 8,000 just nine days ago, have surged to 30,113.

FIVE months after Telangana managed to persuade Kerala-based Kitex group to invest in the state, Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan held an investment road show in Hyderabad on Friday inviting industrialists there to invest in Kerala.

Kerala CM Pinarayi Vijayan at the investors' meet in Hyderabad on Friday

Addressing the investors at the road show, Pinarayi made a strong pitch to invest in Kerala saying the state was going through an exciting and dynamic phase in its economic development. "Our aspiration is to become the leader in attracting investors to the state in industries that conform to the overarching goals of environmental sustainability," Pinarayi said. While announcing that the state would achieve its industrial goals with determination and focus, he said the state is looking for strategic partnerships in key sectors. The CM's road-show in Hyderabad assumes significance as it was only in September last year Sabu Jacob, MD of Kochi-based Kitex Group, announced ₹2,500-crore investment in Telangana and that he would not make anymore investments in Kerala due to "harassment" by the state government officials. Pinarayi assured the CII, Credai and senior IT officials that the facilities in Kerala are comparable to the best in the country.

"The state is gifted with strengths that are better than what is found in other regions in the country," he said.

While inviting the investors, the Chief Minister also listed the achievements the state made in recent times and the path-breaking laws it enacted to facilitate industrial growth of the state. The state has taken many initiatives to support and drive investments in key segments of the healthcare industry to meet the challenges posed by the Covid-19 pandemic.

Rail traffic hit as goods train derails on Mys-B'luru line

FOUR wheels of a single wagon of an empty goods train (materials train) derailed on Friday afternoon between Nayandahalli and KSR railway stations disrupting peak hour traffic between Mysuru and Bengaluru. Eleven trains saw delays and passengers from Mysuru and cities enroute who had plans to board the Rajdhani, Udyan and Karnataka Express from Bengaluru missed them along with a few who planned to catch flight from Kempegowda International Airport. The 21-coach train with open wagons had delivered rails at Kengeri railway station and was on its way to KSR station when the derailment occurred at 3.10 pm near the Binny Mill side of KSR railway station. The wheels were re-railed at 5.34 pm and traffic restored, said an official release. Trains from Nayandahalli to KSR were hit, it added.

V Jayanth, who was on board the Mysuru-Mayiladuthurai Express, which was stopped at Maddur and then again at Bidadi told TNIE, "A family from Mysuru, who had to board the Rajdhani to Delhi which departed at 8 pm from KSR, alighted midway and went back home by bus. Another family, which had boarded at Channapatna to catch the Karnataka Express at Bengaluru at 7.20 pm, also did the same. A few who had to take flights to neighbouring cities from Bengaluru airport too missed them. They were all crowding around the loco-pilot and complaining."

Police said the deceased were identified as Dinesh (24), (full name not available) and S Moideen (23), from Chengalpattu district. Chengalpattu SP Aravindan said the duo was attempting to flee when police surrounded them. "They hurled country bombs at police and when police closed in on them, they attacked the cops with machetes, injuring head constable Suresh and police constable Bharath. In self defence, police shot Dinesh and Moideen," said Aravindan. The shots, that killed the suspects, were allegedly fired by Thirukazhukundram police inspector Ravikumar. Santosh Kumar, North Zone Inspector General of Police visited the spot and inquiried. A magisterial inquiry has been ordered.

According to police, on Thursday Madhavan, Dinesh and Moideen murdered Appu Karthik in full public view near the Chengalpattu old bus stand by hurling country bombs at him and hacking him to death before hacking Mahesh to death while he was watching television at his house in Mettu Street. Following the murders, three special teams were formed to nab the suspects.

The murders took place due to a long-standing enmity, police said. Appu Karthik and Mahesh were booked in 2018 for assaulting Dinesh and Moideen. While a trial was going on, Appu Karthik and Mahesh reportedly assaulted Dinesh in front of his house three days ago.

Chargesheet not valid in rape case against seer: HC

Bengaluru : Noting that the chargesheet filed by the CID against Sri Raghaveshwara Bharathi, pontiff of Sri Ramachandrapura Mutt, in a rape case is not a chargesheet in the eye of law as the state government did not issue a notification declaring the investigating agency as a police station, the Karnataka High Court dismissed the petitions filed by the state government as well as the victim against the order of the trial court discharging the seer from the case. Dismissing the criminal revision petitions filed separately by the state government and the victim questioning the seer's discharge, Justice V Srishananda said the trial judge ought not to have acquitted the accused. Since the entire chargesheet stood vitiated, there is no necessity for this court to consider the argument on behalf of the victim, the judge said.

Madras HC turns down order for producing idol

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THE Madras High Court has turned down an order of a trial court to produce a temple idol before the court, observing that devotees believe idol is the God. Justice R Suresh Kumar passed the orders on Thursday on a petition filed by local residents of Siviyarpalayam, Kangeyam, in Tiruppur district. They objected to the orders of a special court for idol theft cases located at Kumbakonam, to produce the idol of the main deity before the court.

The idol was recovered by the police after it was stolen from Paramasivansamy temple. When the concerned authorities returned it, temple authorities had re-installed the idol.

The Moolavar (main deity) need not be removed and produced before the magistrate court concerned because, according to the belief of devotees, idol is God, who cannot be summoned by the Court for mere inspection or verification purposes as if it's a material object of a criminal case, the judge said in his order.

He explained that a 'Urchavar' idol can be taken out to any place by following the Aagama rules because normally, Urchavar idols are taken for procession. Yet, in the case of Moolavar, it cannot be removed even pursuant to court order if it has been installed after performing the relevant rituals.

Ashoka second K'taka minister to test positive

HEALTH Department sources said, "The minister's staff and those who came in contact with them will be tested. It has to be done judiciously as not everyone can be tested. Also, many of them will undergo testing on their own." Sources said, "The CM and the entire staff at the CMO were subjected to RAT and RT-PCR tests and the reports were negative." The CM's Home Office 'Krishna' and his official residence on Race Course Road in Bengaluru were sanitised. Bommai attended official meetings at 'Krishna' on Friday.

After the surge in Covid cases in Bengaluru, the CMO has been ensuring that only a small number of people attend the chief minister's meetings.

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar too got himself tested and reported 'negative'. Ashoka is the second minister to test positive in the third wave. Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh reported positive on January 1 and he is now in home isolation at Tiptur.

Tiger cub to receive cataract medicine from USA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Idukki

A tiger cubs, abandoned by its mother due to disabilities, has been learning lessons of hunting in a protected environment and will receive medicine for its cataract treatment from the USA soon.

Two forest guards, who were on patrolling duty, had found the tiger cub in the deep jungle near Mangala Devi temple in the Periyar Tiger Reserve on November 22, 2020. The cub which was barely two-months-old was weak and hungry and was staring at certain death. The mother had abandoned the cub as its hind legs were paralysed and had poor vision.

The Forest Department is grooming the cub with minimal human interaction to help her adapt to the wild. he is being given training as per guidelines

Dr R Anuraj, veterinarian

It was brought to Thekkady forest range office where she slowly regained strength under the watchful eyes of two forest guards and veterinarian Dr R Anuraj. Named Mangala, the Forest Department has been providing her the best nutrition to help her gain strength and survive in the wild.

A team of veterinarians provided her physiotherapy to rejuvenate her legs and shifted to a protected enclosure in July 2021 to train her in hunting before releasing her in the wild. However, her poor eyesight was a big concern and an expert team of veterinarians examined the animal and recommended treatment for cataract. The plan is to import 'lanosterol', a medicine that can dissolve cataract, from the US. The cub is now 16 months old and veterinarians feel that she can survive in the wild only if her vision improves.

"The Forest Department is grooming the cub with minimal human interaction to help her adapt to the wild. If she gets attached to humans, she will tend to live near human habitations after release. She is being given training as per the guidelines of the National Tiger Foundation. Once her vision problem is addressed, she will be released in the wild," said Dr Anuraj.

A SEASON OF POSSIBILITIES FOR INDIA'S ECONOMY

The NSO's first advance estimates of national income peg India's GDP growth at 9.2% in FY22 compared to a 7.3% contraction in FY21. With the economy likely surpassing the pre-pandemic level by March, it appears to be a season of possibilities. While the IMF suggests that India could be the fastest-growing Asian economy in 2022 in real terms, and the only one in the continent to grow in double digits in nominal terms, market research firm Jefferies believes the country has already entered an economic supercycle driven by a decisive housing cycle turnaround. Likewise, IHS Markit Ltd predicts that India will likely overtake Japan as Asia's second-largest economy by 2030. Currently, we are the sixth-largest economy in the world, behind the US, China, Japan, Germany and the UK.

The projected 9.2% growth rate quickens the pulse, but one must note it's on a low base. Moreover, the biggest component, i.e. consumption, is not fully out of the woods. Services sector, the lifeblood of any economy, too is desperately making it from one day to the next. And both are staring right at the enemy (Omicron infections) fearing lockdown-like restrictions, which could knock them out thrice over. Even if the economy somehow manages to escape the effects of a potential third wave, there's another proverbial elephant in the room—inflation. As Morgan Stanley notes, the significant price rises among major economies, coupled with supply-chain disruptions and labour shortages, offers a clear signal for central banks to raise rates. But such a move could stop recovery in its tracks, particularly because consumption and investments are barely picking up.

As we have seen, China, which withdrew policy support and tightened regulation, suffered a mini-slowdown last year. While the Indian economy is rebounding strongly, helped by structural reforms and rising vaccination rates, some key components of an economic cycle are yet to make a 360-degree turn. Put simply, 2022 may well be the year of The Great Rebalancing involving the central bank to proceed with calibrated policy easing followed by a fiscal plan that prioritises expenditure with foresight to avoid another economic coma.

WHEN HOSPITALS TURN COVID CLUSTERS

As the third wave of the Covid-19 pandemic takes a firm shape at an astonishing pace, doctors, nurses and other healthcare staff are the first to face the brunt, as usual. There are reports about fresh clusters being formed in hospitals across India, just as in the previous two waves of the pandemic. That hospitals are already facing a staff shortage is forcing many healthcare workers not to get tested to avoid the unpleasant situation arising out of an acute scarcity of manpower. What a student from the Government Kilpauk Medical College Hospital in Chennai, where a dozen doctors tested positive earlier this week, told this newspaper is baffling. Many of them apparently have symptoms, but only those with severe fever are getting tested. If they get tested and are reported as Covid positive, they would have to be necessarily quarantined, and the hospitals can't be shut down for want of staff.

This is indeed a serious issue. Even if the third wave is less fatal compared to its previous incarnations, the spread of infection in hospitals may lead to complications among patients suffering from other ailments and those recuperating from surgeries. Doctors on duty in casualty wards and outpatient departments should wear PPE kits and follow all Covid-appropriate behaviour. They may need to treat every patient as a Covid carrier. As per the Indian Medical Association (IMA), more than 1,500 doctors sacrificed their life in the line of duty during the pandemic, with over 800 deaths during the second wave. Several nurses and healthcare staff too perished in two years. We can't afford to let this recur in the New Year.

Doctors and other healthcare workers continue to be burdened with long hours of work. Post-graduate medicos who went on strike in Kerala in December complained of undertaking strenuous work continuously for 48 to 72 hours due to inadequate number of resident doctors. It is imperative that every state should appoint more healthcare staff and provide higher remuneration. Counselling for NEET, which has been delayed by over a year, needs to be undertaken on a war footing. Let's fight the pandemic together.

The economy is rebounding as shown by a broad set of indicators. However knee-jerk reactions to Omicron can derail growth prospects and recovery

REACTION TO OMICRON AND NATION'S RECOVERY

BIBEK DEBROY
Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the PM

SOUMYADIP SINHA

At the moment, all discussion revolves around Omicron, or other possibly more virulent versions of the virus. On January 2, the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare issued a press release, aptly titled: "Covid-19: Myth vs Facts". To quote, "In a recently published news article by a reputed international news agency, it has been claimed that India has missed its vaccination target. This is misleading and does not represent the complete picture." Indeed, that particular news agency has done several stories on how India's vaccination drive has stumbled, or has met with resistance, or masks a divide. It has also done a story on how India's delayed action on the Delta variant caused cases to spiral around the world. No one, including the WHO, has of course pinned down blame on the country where the virus originated initially. China is spared the culpability and conversely, there are those, some Indians included, who would like India to fail. There are cross-country figures on vaccination and in these, India doesn't compare at all unfavourably with more advanced countries. In such numbers, the metric used is typically the percentage of total population. India's vaccination for 15- to 18-year-olds has started recently. Therefore, a better metric is the percentage of eligible population, not the total. Let's take the US as an example. As that press release stated, in first-dose coverage, India has covered 90% of the population and the US 73.2%. In second-dose coverage, India has covered 65% and the US 61.5%.

True, cumulatively, there have been more than 4,80,000 deaths in India and that's a reason for regret. However, whether it is deaths, new deaths, active cases or tests, India's management doesn't compare that unfavourably, especially when normalised for its population. In that event, why is there a paranoia over Omicron? New cases are certainly climbing sharply, particularly in Maharashtra, West Bengal and Kerala. So are positivity rates. Given inevitable socially irresponsible behaviour and time lags in transmission, infection numbers will increase, until they taper off. But severity, hospitalisation and deaths, expressed as percentages, will remain low. The paranoia, in citizens and in government responses, is understandable, given the trauma associated with the second wave in the first half of 2021. Vaccination numbers are higher now, there is heightened immunity, and the medical systems are better geared. True, beyond mortality, we don't know the adverse morbidity consequences of Covid on health or even on educational attainments. Nevertheless, when the economy is on the rebound, knee-jerk reactions are likely to stifle it. Almost one decade ago, Gurcharan Das wrote a book titled, "India Grows at Night". The subsumed second half of the expression was "When the Government Sleeps". This is a colourful image when several states have imposed night curfews. Or consider Delhi's rule of opening markets and shops on alternate days, odd versus even. December 31 was followed by January 1, both odd numbers, admittedly a rare event. But there was confusion about whether odd/even would override the alternate day rule.

There can be no debate about the economy rebounding. This is evident across a broad set of indicators. Every year, the Department of Economic Affairs (DEA) brings out a "Monthly Economic Report". The last such was for November 2021, not factoring in Omicron completely. Nevertheless, let me quote from this: "Latest GDP estimates released by NSO showed that Indian economy grew at 8.4% YoY in Q2 of FY 2021–22 after clocking 20.1% YoY growth in the preceding quarter ... With this, more than 95.6% of the H1 output of 2019–20, the pre-pandemic year, stands recovered ... Among the 19 HFIs (high frequency indicators), there are some indicators whose recovery is way beyond 100% such as power consumption, E-Way bill volume, merchandise exports, coal production, rail freight traffic, etc., which suggests that not only the recovery is complete, but also the economic growth is steadily gathering momentum over corresponding pre-pandemic levels of output. ... However, the new Omicron variant of Covid-19 poses a challenge to the sustained recovery, and Covid-19 appropriate behaviour is warranted. That said, the economy is better prepared to work with Covid, with rapidly growing vaccination coverage and lessons learnt from the second wave in containing the contagion."

> The paranoia, in citizens and in government responses, is understandable given the trauma associated with the second wave in the first half of 2021. But vaccination numbers are higher now, there is heightened immunity, and the medical systems are better geared. ... Yet several states have imposed night curfews

This quote doesn't give a specific real growth number for 2021–22. Most forecasters, including those outside the government, expect real GDP growth of around 9.5%. This isn't just about growth, but levels too, a point made in the quote. With that kind of growth in 2021–22, the economy more than recovers losses suffered in 2020–21. Of the four drivers of growth, consumption, government expenditure and exports (net) have performed well, and it was only a matter of time before investments (once capacity utilisation improves) and labour markets revived. This augured well for 2022–23 too, since construction, services and contact-intensive sectors (travel, tourism) that hadn't recovered in 2021–22 would have normally done so in 2022–23. We are less than a month away from the Union Budget for 2022–23 and we shall soon know the real and nominal growth the government expects next year and its proposals to nurse the fragile recovery and sustain it in 2023–24 and beyond. This depends on productivity and that's a function of efficient land and labour markets. In both, the Union government has limited degrees of freedom. The Centre also has limited degrees of freedom on expenditure and indirect taxes. One should remember both statements when one has expectations about the Budget. Knee-jerk reactions to Omicron (with an anagram of moronic) can derail growth prospects and recovery.

TO CONDUCT OR POSTPONE POLLS AMID THIRD WAVE

SOMYA LUTHRA
New Delhi-based legal scholar

KARAN BHASIN
New York-based economist

An important issue that has become an extensively debated subject is the conduct of elections during the pandemic. There have been arguments to suggest that the conduct of Assembly elections was responsible for the second wave. This argument has been further extended given the Omicron scare with cases increasing in various cities of India. It is important to recognise that the second wave began in states where there were no elections. That is, the surge in cases began in Maharashtra, Kerala and Delhi—places where there were no elections. To blame it on elections is fairly convenient, even as many ignore that conducting polls is not a choice but rather a constitutional duty.

Let us begin with an example from Uttar Pradesh that has been subject to severe scrutiny even as many have ignored Maharashtra, which happens to have witnessed one of the highest number of cases per lakh population. Uttar Pradesh was to conduct rural civic body elections and the state's poll panel had given an undertaking to hold them by May 2021. However, a Bench of Justices Munishwar Nath Bhandari and Rohit Ranjan Agarwal rejected the undertaking and ordered the elections to be conducted by 30 April 2021.

The order stated, "As per the mandate of the Constitution, the election of the Panchayat should have been held on or before 13 January 2021".

The elections were an outcome of a plea filed seeking for the polls to be conducted as per the provisions of Article 243-E of the Constitution, and the court ruled in favour. The Uttar Pradesh government complied with the High Court's order, yet many were quick to blame it for the same.

The issue of polls during the pandemic is not a new one as there was a request by Bihar's RJD for the Assembly elections to be postponed. However, elections were conducted on time and Bihar saw a limited spike in Covid-19 cases after the electoral process. That the Election Commission did not delay the polls is largely because it is mandated by law to conduct elections.

Section 153 of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, does enable the EC to extend the time for completing an election, but it is applicable only once a poll process has started. Moreover, the alternative choice available if elections cannot be conducted on time is to either invoke President's rule under Article 356 or extend the duration of the legislative Assembly by one year. Both would be tantamount to denying the right of adequate representation to citizens of any state.

As ordered by the High Court in the case of Uttar Pradesh, a constitutional obligation will have to be met and the state election commission would have to undertake its duties as per the constitutional framework. Therefore, even if the EC were to delay the elections in any particular state, it would be subject to petitions as in the case of UP to undertake them.

> That elections are an important constitutional duty must be well recognised and cannot be wished away as a policy choice. The key question is not whether elections could be conducted amidst a pandemic, but instead how polls can be held while minimising any potential risks of a subsequent surge in coronavirus cases

Even as the focus has been solely on the Assembly polls, it is important to recognise that India has had close to 28 different types of elections since the pandemic started—and the bulk of them happened after September 2020. It is noteworthy that despite such elections being conducted, there was no surge in cases between September 2020 and February 2021.

That elections are an important constitutional duty must be well recognised and cannot be wished away as a policy choice. The key question was not whether elections could be conducted amidst a pandemic, but instead how polls can be held while minimising any potential risks of a subsequent surge in cases.

In that context, before the Bihar polls, the EC had sought suggestions from all political parties regarding the conduct of elections amidst the pandemic. The process was geared towards arriving at a mechanism to conduct elections that kept in mind the importance of social distancing (and other constraints imposed by the pandemic) while ensuring free and fair polls.

In that regard, it made several proposals to all political parties, which included the option of banning physical rallies while suggesting digital ones. The move for digital rallies was supported by the BJP keeping in mind the Covid situation. Incidentally, it had initiated a fully digital campaigning mode for the entire election. However, nine opposition parties had opposed the same and they requested the EC to allow conventional rallies. Subsequently, the EC allowed a hybrid mode whereby conventional election rallies and digital were both permitted.

It is important to point out here that despite risks associated with election rallies, several political parties aggressively pushed for traditional rallies as they saw it as a prerequisite to improve their electoral tally in the state of Bihar. Given that the EC agreed for traditional rallies further suggests that the institution has a preference for fulfilling its constitutional obligations of holding free and fair elections in a timely manner.

It is about time that the commentariat recognises that conducting elections is indeed a constitutional obligation of the EC as is ensuring a fair poll process. Therefore, if political parties—more so from the opposition—are against digital campaigning, then we are bound to see massive rallies as an outcome of the electoral process. While it is an ethical dilemma, constitutional frameworks and judicial interventions have eased it by prioritising the right to adequate representation.

VIP movement protocol

The statement by the Punjab CM that the life threat for PM Narendra Modi was a gimmick is unwarranted. The state government must admit the mistake on its part and urgent corrective measures must be taken. The protocol for VIP movement must be strictly followed and such a breach in security cannot be allowed at any cost. Politics has to be kept aside in matters of security.
Krishnakumar G, Ernakulam

National issue, not political

It is unfortunate that the Punjab government and the Congress see the breach of the PM's security as a political issue. By viewing it as Modi's security and not the prime minister's, the Congress is missing a vital point about the nation and its elected leader. Modi can certainly be fought on political issues, but his standing as the current PM should always be respected.
Duggaraju Srinivasa Rao, Vijayawada

A bad precedent

If the Congress thinks it has achieved its goal of sending Modi back to Delhi without addressing a public rally, thus hindering his campaign, it is sadly mistaken. People all over India have witnessed the antics in Punjab and how the CM has misused government machinery. This has set a bad precedent; in future, if a Congress leader were to become prime minister, they could have a taste of their own medicine.

Distortion of democracy

This is with reference to Rahul and how dynasts distort democracy (Jan 7). The article has highlighted the spread of dynastic politics, which was heralded by the Congress. As rightly pointed out, barring the BJP and Communist parties, most main political outfits are feudal entities. It is certainly a distortion of democracy. It is a sad but true fact that dynasty is a deep-rooted issue in democratic India.
Hemanth Bhide, Mangaluru

Bane of dynastic politics

As is rightly said, democracy is 'for the people, of the people and by the people'. But in India, this doesn't seem to be the case as many political parties have become family entities. There is not much difference between monarchies and family parties. People are beginning to lose faith in parties due to their internal dynastic politics. Many such parties are losing their vote bank due to such policies.
Suman S Oreya, Thiruvananthapuram

Huge challenge for nation

This is with reference to Institutionalising the bane of manual scavenging must end (Jan 5). Not only is manual scavenging demeaning, it is also done under extremely hazardous conditions. But it is only when some of the manual scavengers die does their social background, the perils of their job and the snub they face in society come out. Eradicating this is a huge challenge that the nation must address and it calls for thorough and sustained efforts by the concerned authorities, both at the Central and state level.

Seven-day home quarantine must on arrival in India

All international passengers will have to get RT-PCR test done on the eighth day and upload the report on govt's Air Suvidha portal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ALL international passengers arriving in India will have to undergo home quarantine for seven days and undertake an RT-PCR test on the eighth day, says the government's revised guidelines for international arrivals that comes into effect from January 11. The new rules cover protocols to be followed by passengers, airlines and all entry points —airports, land borders and seaports.

The new norms say all travellers, including those 2% who were selected for random testing on arrival and were found negative, will undergo a week's home quarantine followed by RT-PCR test. They will be required to upload results of the RT-PCR test done on the 8th day on the Air Suvidha portal, which will be monitored by the respective states.

The Union health ministry in the latest advisory has also said that the travellers should preferably pre-book the test online on Air Suvidha Portal to facilitate timely testing and avoid inconvenience. They need to fill in details about their travel details of last 14 days, apart from uploading a negative RT-PCR test report on the portal and the test should be conducted 72 hours before the journey. The passengers will also have to submit a declaration on the authenticity of the report.

Children under 5 years of age are exempted from both pre- and post-arrival testing. However, if found symptomatic on arrival or during home quarantine, they will need to undergo testing and will be treated as per laid down protocol.

People arriving from at-risk countries will mandatorily need to submit samples for self-paid post-arrival Covid-19 test at the point of arrival and will be required to wait for result at the airport before leaving or taking a connecting flight.

If tested negative, they will have to be in home quarantine for seven days but in case of a positive test result, their samples should be further sent for genome testing at INSACOG laboratory network.

These travellers will be managed at an isolation facility and treated as per laid down protocol, including contact tracing norms. The contacts of such positive cases will be kept under home quarantine, monitored strictly by the state governments concerned.

Workers at a Patna health facility refill oxygen cylinders as Covid cases rise | PTI

Bihar govt plans to open call centre for migrants

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE Bihar government is planning to open a 24x7 call centre soon to help migrant workers willing to return home in the wake of a surge in the Covid-19 cases across the country.

Labour minister Jibesh Kumar on Friday said, "We have decided to start a call centre to assist the migrant workers who want to return home from their workplace."

The department swung into action soon after reports about problems faced by the migrant workers reached the office of the minister, who represents Jale assembly constituency in Darbhanga. Darbhanga is among the districts from where a large number of migrant labourers go to different states.

The department will notify a nodal officer who, if required, would interact with the officials of the states concerned to ensure safe journey of the migrant workers.

The personnel manning the call centre will register the names of the migrant workers, mobile numbers and workplace. "A database will also be prepared," a labour department official said.

The department is also working on a proposal to organise camps in each district to provide job to the migrants, based on their skills. A similar facility was made available during the lockdown in 2020, too.

Centre says onus of spending Covid funds lies with states

NEW DELHI: The Centre, while reviewing the preparedness status of the crucial oxygen infrastructure including PSA plants, oxygen concentrators and oxygen cylinders and ventilators with states, declared that the full onus of spending the funds under the Emergency Covid Response Package rested with them.

Union health secretary Rajesh Bhushan on Friday emphasised that it was the primary and critical responsibility of states to ensure all oxygen equipment, till the field level at all health facilities, is tested and kept in a functional state to meet any emergent situation. States were urged to ensure full and optimal utilization of the ECRP-II funds, through daily reviews, and to upload the expenditure on the dedicated National Health Mission portal so that they are eligible for release of further funds in order to strengthen the healthcare facilities.

The government statistics show that of ₹6,075 crore released by the Centre under the ERCP-II so far, only ₹1,679 crore (27%) have been spent by the states, with Maharashtra, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh among the worst performers. ENS

MILITARY MEET

Round 14 of India-China LAC talks on January 12

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

AS part of the process to ease tension along the Line of Actual Control in eastern Ladakh, the Corps Commanders of India and China will meet on January 12. According to sources, the date has been finalised.

While there have been disengagements at Galwan, Pangong Tso banks and Gogra, the stand-off continues at Hot Springs. From the Indian side, it will be the first Corps Commanders meeting for Lt Gen Anindya Sengupta, who took over command of the 'Fire and Fury Corps' from Lt Gen PGK Menon on Wednesday.

This will be the 14th round of military talks since the first one between the Corps Commander based in Leh and the Chinese Commander on June 6, 2020, in the Chushul-Moldo region.

This comes amid reports of China raising major permanent infrastructures on their side, including a bridge connecting the north and south banks of Pangong Lake which, sources say, will help PLA troops switch banks in just four hours. Otherwise, this used to take around 12 hours.

India on Thursday had made clear that the bridge constructed by China to connect these two banks is illegal. Arindam Bagchi, spokesperson of the Ministry of External Affairs, said, "As you are well aware, India has never accepted such illegal occupation."

This bridge is constructed in areas that have been under illegal occupation by China for around 60 years, Bagchi said. There are more than 50,000 armed soldiers on both sides of the LAC in eastern Ladakh, with stand-offs continuing at Depsang Plains, Hot Springs and Demchok.

Centre estimates 6 cr to be eligible for booster shot by March

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

AS the administration of Covid booster dose begins in India from January 10 for the most vulnerable population groups, the government has estimated that nearly 6 crore people will qualify for the vaccines as per the existing criteria by March.

Healthcare and frontline workers and those above 60 years with underlying illnesses — but not needing doctors' certificates — have been declared to be qualifying for the third dose, that is being called "precaution dose" in India. It will be the homologous vaccine —the same that a person has received in previous two doses. The Union health ministry has also mandated that only those who have completed 9 months since the administration of the second dose will be eligible for the precaution doses.

NK Arora, chairman of Covid working group under the National Technical Advisory Group on Immunization told TNIE that the Centre has estimated that 5-6 crore people under the specified groups will qualify for the booster dose by March.

"Nearly 5-6 crore people had completed their full vaccination by June 2020 and they will be the people who can get precaution dose till March," said Arora. He added that deliberations are on over widening the ambit of population eligible for booster doses but are in preliminary stage and will largely depend on how the ongoing wave behaves.

Arora also said it needed to be seen whether administering the precaution doses can contain the spread of Omicron— which is causing a significant proportion of breakthrough infections suggesting that existing vaccines are unable to largely protect against it.

As the Omicron is pushing the daily infections through the roof, many health care workers feel it may already be late for administering booster jabs.

"The virus is already sweeping through the country but the administration of (booster) jabs has not even started yet," said a senior doctor in Delhi's Lok Nayak Hospital. "Ideally, when the Omicron started hitting some countries in early December, the government should have taken a quick decision."

Court steps in; Punjab's top cops questioned

HARPREET BAJWA & SANA SHAKIL @ Chandigarh/New Delhi

TWO days after Prime Minister Narendra Modi's convoy to Ferozepur was stopped by protesting farmers in a major security breach, the Centre on Friday stepped up pressure, recording statements of 14 senior Punjab officials, including Director General of Police Siddharth Chattopadhyay, while issuing a show-cause notice to Bathinda senior superintendent of police Ajay Maluja.

The actions came on a day when the Supreme Court directed the Punjab and Haryana high court registrar general to seize records of all the security measures for Modi's visit. It asked the Centre and Punjab to put the proceedings of their respective probe panels on hold till Monday.

However, the committee set up by the Union home ministry visited the flyover near Piareana village in Ferozepur where Modi's cavalcade got stuck, spending about 40 minutes there. It later went to the BSF's sector headquarters where it met senior police and civil officials. They were were questioned for hours, a senior government official in Delhi said.

Earlier in the day, Punjab Chief Secretary Anirudh Tewari submitted a report to the Centre. It is understood to have termed the farmers' protests as spontaneous and claimed it had deployed extra manpower in the wake of agitations in several districts.

The show-cause notice to the Bathinda SSP held him responsible for not taking enough steps to sanitise the PM's route. It said he failed to go by the rule book and also did not make any contingency plan. "It is abundantly clear that the route clearance was given without adequately attending to all security concerns. You were mandated to make adequate arrangements and also to make a contingency plan... It is obvious that a contingency plan with attendant security deployment was either not made or not put to effect," the notice said.

He was also been accused of deploying only a small number of police personnel. "Throughout the route only skeletal police deployment was observed," the notice added.

The Punjab Police registered a case against unknown persons for blocking the PM's cavalcade. Besides, a panel set up by the state to probe the lapse put its proceedings on hold following directions by the Supreme Court

SC orders securing of PM's Punjab travel records

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday ordered the Registrar General of Punjab and Haryana High Court to secure and preserve forthwith records relating to PM Narendra Modi's visit to Punjab and the security lapse.

The court asked the committees set up by the Centre and the Punjab government not to go ahead for the time being and posted the matter for Monday.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India N V Ramana directed the state government, police authorities, SPG and other central agencies to assist the Registrar General in sealing the entire record. The court said an NIA officer should assist the Registrar General in collecting evidence, including wireless messages relating to the PM's visit.

The order came on a petition filed by Lawyer's Voice seeking a probe into the lapse in the PM's security in Punjab. On behalf of the petitioners, senior advocate Maninder Singh demanded that the state's committee should be stayed.

BJP MPs protest near Gandhi statue at Parliament over PM's secirity breach | PTI

Punjab Advocate General DS Patwalia said the state was not adversarial to the litigation and was of the view that the issue was a serious one. He, however, said both the Centre and state committees should wait until Monday. Solicitor General Tushar Mehta said the records must be secured first and then the court can decide future course of action.

Singh expressed suspicions about the security lapse and submitted that prior to the PM's visit, a banned organisation abroad published a video exhorting people to certain acts and said this was an issue of national security.

Echoing him, Mehta said the incident has caused international embarrassment. "Whenever the PM's cavalcade travels on road, DG of the state inspects the road to see if the PM can travel. In this case, DG gave a green signal. The pilot car wasn't told about the protest," the Solicitor General said, adding this can potentially be a plot of cross-border terrorism.

Akal Takht head slams 'hate terror' against Sikhs

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Jathedar (high priest) of Akal Takht (highest temporal seat of Sikhs), Giani Hapreet Singh, on Friday said the community was being targeted on social media and "hate terrorism" was being spread against it on the pretext of security lapse of PM Narendra Modi. Punjab Congress president Navjot Singh Sidhu also alleged that the episode was a conspiracy to "defame Punjab and Punjabiyat".

"Whatever happened on Wednesday during PM Modi's visit is unfortunate. But it happened due to lack of coordination between officials of both the central and the state governments. But, after this episode, Sikhs are being targeted on the social media and comments are being made against them. This is unfortunate. Terrorism is just not when people are fired upon or killed in blasts. When a particular community is targeted and is badmouthed, that is also a kind of terrorism," Giani Hapreet Singh said.

"The government has failed to control the anti-Sikh voices and even the people at responsible positions are indulging in this kind of campaign, threatening and reminding them what happened in 1984... People who are spreading this hate terrorism should be booked for sedition," he said.

Sidhu slammed the BJP alleging that the saffron party was trying to reap political benefits in other poll-bound states by defaming Punjab. "You are not the PM of BJP alone, but of the country...But the state and Punjabiyat is being insulted when it is said the PM has said that his life was in danger...."

Viral video showing BJP supporters near PM convoy sparks row

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

A new video has gone viral on social media in which a group of BJP workers are seen getting closer to the cavalcade of Prime Minister Narendra Modi with party flags and raising slogans of 'BJP Zindabad', prompting farmer unions and others to raise questions over the security breach.

Modi was stuck for 20 minutes on the overbridge on Moga-Ferozepur road on his way to Ferozepur during his Punjab visit on January 5. These saffron party workers were also stuck at the over bridge as farmers had blocked the road.

In the viral video, the group can be seen moving close to the black bullet-proof SUV of PM Modi on the opposite carriageway. The authenticity of the video could not be independently confirmed by this newspaper.

The Samyukta Kisan Morcha said it was clear from the video that the farmers did not make any attempt to go towards the PM's convoy and hence the claim of threat to his security was exaggerated.

Meanwhile, Haryana Chief Minister M L Khattar demanded the dismissal of Charanjit Singh Channi government over the security lapse and imposition of President's rule in Punjab. Khattar and state BJP chief O P Dhankar met Governor Bandaru Dattatreya and submitted a memorandum. Earlier, Khattar along with Speaker Gian Chand Gupta performed a yagna at a temple in Panckula for the long life of Modi.

Multi-corner contest, slender margins make Goa unpredictable

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE results of upcoming Goa Assembly election are going to be unpredictable thanks to multiple parties — small and big — fighting for the pie. Besides, the victory margin of candidates is usually very narrow in this small coastal state, making the final results highly susceptible to last-minute changes.

In the 2017 Assembly polls, the victory margin in 21 out of the total 40 seats was less than 5,000 votes and in seven of them, it was a close shave for the winner as the margin was less than 1,000 votes. Similarly, the margin was less than 10,000 votes in 10 seats while only in one seat the winner could bag over 15,000 votes than his next rival.

Sumit Naik, a senior journalist analysing Goa politics, compared the situation to 'many cooks spoil the broth'. "In the same way many players in the fray can change the calculations of national parties," he said. In the previous Assembly election, the BJP's vote share (32%) was more than that of Congress (28%). "But when it came to seats, Congress won in 17 while BJP could bag only 13. Therefore, no one can predict in which way the wind is blowing in Goa. The state's natural and political weathers are unpredictable. There are some seats that are won at a margin of less than 100 votes. So, a few votes swinging any side can change the scenario," Naik pointed out.

Another political observer said Goa's demography is constantly changing. "There is a continuous inward and outward movement of a section of population that has no political base or particular choice. These voters are fence-sitters and they vote as per the prevailing political atmosphere. In the last election, AAP was the main buzz. It didn't win a single seat but was runner up in one seat and also bagged 6% vote share, which is significant. This time, the TMC is creating a buzz and the scene is constantly changing," he added.

Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant had termed the AAP and TMC as "tourist parties". "These tourist parties are not going to stay back in Goa," Sawant said.

Meanwhile, Girish Chondkar, president of Congress Goa unit, said the state's politics may be volatile but the people are with his party.

SP may spare 36 seats for RLD to win western UP

Akhilesh banking on Jayant Chaudhary to attract influential Jat-Muslim vote base

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE Samajwadi Party is banking on the Jayant Chaudhary-led Rashtriya Lok Dal to conquer western UP where the Jat-Muslim combination is a major force.

SP chief Akhilesh Yadav and his RLD counterpart sat on Thursday to draw the contours of seat-sharing in which the focus was on the seats which the former UP CM would leave for the RLD in western region.

While Jats make around 1-2% of the UP population, they constitute around 7-9% in western UP. Around 100 segments in this region have Jats as swing voters. Muslims have influence in even more constituencies.

As per sources, the RLD had demanded around 50 seats but the SP agreed to concede 30. However, those privy to the talks claimed that the final agreement stood at 36 which the SP is ready to spare for the RLD. "There will be a few seats on which RLD will field its candidates on SP symbol and vice-versa," said a senior RLD leader.

In 2017, the BJP won around 104 of the 128 seats in the region followed by the SP 18 and the RLD one. The RLD, which had contested in 277 seats then, saw its lone MLA joined the BJP in 2018.

"The Thursday discussions were more to fine-tune the seat sharing in western UP which is the region of the RLD's influence, and formulating Jat-Muslim-Dalit equation and combining it with the SP's vote base," the RLD leader said.

The SP had allied with the Congress in the 2017 Assembly polls and stitched a grand alliance with BSP and RLD in the 2019 general elections. But both the alliances failed to work for the SP whose seats fell from 224 to 47 in 2017.

Snatching twist by CBI in Dhanbad judge case irks HC

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

GIVING a new angle to the Dhanbad hit-and-run case, the CBI on Friday told the Jharkhand High Court that the accused possibly hit the victim, Judge Uttam Anand, with their auto rickshaw in an attempt to snatch his mobile phone. The CBI also informed the court that the investigation is still on and efforts are being made to get into more details of the matter.

The court, however, expressed disappointment over the new angle being given to the case. "Nothing indicating any incident of loot or snatching is seen in the CCTV footage while it is clear that the Judge was hit intentionally," said the Court. Though, an FIR has been lodged under IPC section 302 (murder), how would the CBI prove it since no mention about the motive of the murder has been made in the charge sheet, the court said.

The court also observed that the case seems to be moving towards "mystery of unexplained" as the CBI has failed to reach any conclusion.

The CBI also told the HC that narco test and brain mapping of both the accused have been conducted again for which reports are still awaited.

Jharkhand High Court Advocate Association Treasurer, Dheeraj Kumar said the court also expressed displeasure over the slow progress in the probe.

Notably, a CCTV footage showing the auto rickshaw hitting the Judge from behind on a deserted road had raised doubts over his death on July 28 last year. Within hours after the CCTV footage surfaced, the high court took suo moto cognizance of the matter, calling it a "direct attack on judiciary".

'Should we send Varavara to jail amid 3rd wave?'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court on Friday asked the National Investigation Agency (NIA) whether the Central agency thought it right to keep octogenarian social activist and Telugu poet Varavara Rao in prison amid the fresh outbreak of Covid-19 cases in Maharashtra.

Dismissing the NIA's objections, the high court extended the medical bail to Rao, an accused in the Elgar Parishad-Maoist links case, till February 5. His plea for further extension of the bail has been posted on February 4.

Rao and 14 other activists have been booked under the stringent UAPA based on letters/emails retrieved from their electronic devices.

In response to NIA's request to defer the matter for another week, the court said "there is no point in keeping it till next week". "You know that the third wave, experts say, may prevail for 50-60 days. Some 200 odd doctors and police personnel have tested positive. Is it possible that in such a wave he (Rao) should be sent to jail? We will hear you on merits, but give us some breathing space," Justice Shinde remarked.

Probe over video of villagers pledging to boycott Muslims

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

A brawl between two villages took communal turn in Chhattisgarh's Ambikapur district, about 350 km north of Raipur, as some unidentified people held a meeting in which villagers were seen in a video taking pledge to boycott the Muslims.

Seven accused were arrested on Friday, additional SP (Ambikapur) Vivek Shukla told this newspaper, adding that the police are closely monitoring the situation and had reinforced its local intelligence network.

It all began after some Muslim villagers from Aara, out on a New Year picnic, had verbal altercation with the residents of Kundikala. Tempers became frayed resulting in youths from Aara allegedly barging into some houses, thrashing the locals in Kundikala and misbehaving with women.

Given the sensitivity of the episode, the police were alerted and an FIR was lodged at Lundra police station. Six were arrested but they got bail.

Later, villagers protested at the police station alleging that strong offences were not pressed against the accused. According to the police, the FIR was lodged after evaluating the complaint. "If during the course of probe more details come out, accordingly the charges will be added," said Akhilesh Kaushik, incharge of Lundra police station.

It was after this protest that the boycott event was held on January 5. The viral video showed villagers purportedly promising not to buy anything from Muslims or sell anything to them. "We learnt some outsiders came to the village and publicly asked the inhabitants to take a pledge to boycott the Muslims. We are inquiring into it," the additional SP said.

Judicial inquiry into Karnal clash set aside

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Haryana government has decided not to pursue judicial inquiry into the August 28 clash between farmers and police in Karnal. Apart from the police lathi-charge on agitating farmers at the Bastara toll plaza, the Karnal episode was in the news after the then local Sub Divisional Magistrate Ayush Sinha was purportedly heard in a video instructing the policemen to smash the heads of the farmers if they tried to breach barricades.

Sources said the decision to withdraw the inquiry commission was taken as the ML Khattar-led BJP government has already announced to withdraw the cases registered against the farmers. The Centre has also repealed the controversial three agricultural laws which the farmers were protesting, they added.

"Whereas the state government is of the opinion that the existence of Commission of Inquiry constituted by the Haryana Government, Home Department notification No.3/1/2021-1HC, dated September 25, 2021 is unnecessary," reads the home department's notification dated January 5.

Former Punjab and Haryana HC judge Justice SN Aggarwal was heading the one-man commission to inquire into the sequence of events leading to violence, including the police lathi-charge.

HAIRSTYLIST HABIB BOOKED AFTER CLIP ATTRACTS OUTRAGE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

TROUBLE mounted for celebrity hairstylist Jawed Habib on Friday as he was booked in Muzaffarnagar following a viral video clip which showed him spitting on a woman's head at a workshop.

The 30-second clip from the January 3 workshop in Muzaffarnagar has drawn widespread criticism from netizens, besides a censure from the National Commission of Women (NCW).

"A case was registered against Jawed Habib under Sections 355 (assault) and 504 (insult) of IPC along with invoking relevant section of Epidemic Act," said Rakesh Kumar, Circle Officer, Khatauli, Muzaffarnagar.

The police action came after it received a complaint from the woman, Pooja Gupta, who was seen with Habib in the video clip.

Pooja had released a video saying that she was terribly disappointed after Habib "misbehaved" on stage by spitting on her hair. Though Habib had taken to Instagram in which he issued an apology, it failed to cut ice.

BJP leader demands closure of outlets

In Madhya Pradesh, BJP leader and MLA from Indore, Akash Vijayvargiya, warned of launching an agitation if the administration did not shut the outlets of the hairstylist in 48 hours. Vijayvargiya tweeted a video asking the Indore police and administration to close Habib's salons and training centres in 48 hours. Also, the Hindu Jagran Manch, a right-wing outfit, burnt effigies of the hair stylist and demanded his arrest.

LIC all set for Q4 listing, officials tell FM

Minister takes stock of progress in meeting with secretaries of DIPAM and DFS; also reviews performance of PSBs

DIPAK MONDAL @New Delhi

THE preparatory activities are on track for Life Insurance Corporation's initial public offer (IPO) in the current quarter. This was the broad conclusion of the meeting called by finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman to review the progress of LIC's IPO.

The meeting was also attended by Secretary, Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM), Tuhin Kanta Pandey, Secretary, Department of Financial Services, Ministry of Finance, Debasish Panda, and senior LIC officials.

Sources from the finance ministry told TNIE that the much-awaited IPO of state-owned life insurer is very much on track to be completed in the current financial year. The government plans to partially disinvest its shareholding through the proposed listing of shares of LIC.

The government holds 100% in LIC, and it is likely that it will initially divest 10% of the stake in the company through the proposed listing.

The LIC IPO has been in the making for a long time, and given the large size of the company and its special status due to the LIC Act, the government had to make some legislative changes to get it IPO ready. And the work is still on.

TO BE COMPLETED IN THIS FISCAL

Sources from the finance ministry told TNIE that the much-awaited IPO of state-owned life insurer is very much on track to be completed in the current financial year

On Thursday, Secretary in the Department of Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade Anurag Jain said that the government is working on further simplification of FDI policy to facilitate LIC disinvestment.

Meanwhile, the finance minister also reviewed the performance of public sector banks. In the meeting which was attended by chairman and managing directors of PSBs, the finance minister assessed various steps taken by PSBs in implementing pandemic-related measures initiated by the government and Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and readiness to tackle possible future disruptions that may occur due to the ongoing variant of the Covid-19 pandemic.

She appreciated the banks for implementation of the Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS), which according to an SBI report, helped save 13.5 lakh MSMEs.

GOVT WARNS OF NEED FOR CURRENCY STABILITY

Japan's Finance Minister Shunichi Suzuki stressed on Friday the need for currency stability and said he was watching market moves "carefully", in the wake of the yen's recent declines against the dollar. Domestic media and a few market members have warned of the potential demerits of a weak yen, which pushes up import costs and households' value of dwelling at a time the financial system is recovering from the Covid-19 pandemic. "I won't comment on the currency market itself, but stability (of exchange-rate moves) is important above all," Suzuki told reporters, signalling that Tokyo will escalate its warning if yen falls turn out to be too fast or risky. "From that standpoint, we'll closely watch currency market moves and their impact on the Japanese economy," he mentioned, when requested if the weakening yen was damaging. Suzuki's remarks came as the greenback hovered close to a five-year excessive at 116.355 yen hit on Tuesday, backed by expectations the US Federal Reserve will embark on regular rate of interest hikes.

IT services company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) on Friday announced that its board will consider a proposal for buyback of shares of the company at its meeting on January 12, 2022. On the same day, TCS will declare its third quarter results. "...This is to inform you that the board of directors will consider a proposal for buyback of equity shares of the company, at its meeting to be held on January 12, 2022," TCS said in its filing.

The company had announced its last buyback in 2020. The buyback was opened on December 18, 2020 and closed on January 1, 2021. The share buyback was to the tune of ₹16,000 crore at ₹3,000 per share.

This year too, the size of the buyback could be around ₹16,000 crore, but the company could surprise on the higher side. The buyback is likely to be at ₹4,500 a piece

TCS had approved a proposal to buyback up to over 5.3 crore equity shares. In FY 2021, the company had an order book of $31.6 billion, 17% higher than the previous year.

In its annual report, the company said that every year it closes several large transformational deals, including one in FY 2021 with total contract value of over $2.4 billion.

During the board meeting on January 12, the TCS board will also consider a third interim dividend to the shareholders. With a total employee base of 5.28 lakh, the largest IT firm had reported a consolidated net profit of ₹9,624 crore in the September quarter, and its revenue was at ₹46,867 crore. Titan stock sees correction from its record high

THE Titan share corrected from a record high of ₹2,687.25 intraday on Friday to close at ₹2572.7, down almost a percent, on NSE , a day after the company said its jewellery segment posted robust 37% year on year revenue growth in Q3 of FY22. Brokerage outlook was mixed with Credit Suisse maintaining a neutral target on the stock but raising its one year price target to ₹2,700 from ₹2,500 earlier. CLSA retained its sell call on the stock with a price target of ₹2,200 per share. Emkay raised its price target to ₹3,000 from ₹2,770 earlier, "factoring in the solid growth momentum". It raised its FY23/FY24 EPS estimates by 8-9%. ENS

Private consumption at ₹80 lakh crore in FY22

IN FY22, private consumption, the single most important variable accounting for over 60% of the GDP, is estimated at ₹80 lakh crore — well below the ₹83 lakh crore seen in FY20 — while general government expenditure that has been the torchbearer along with net exports, will likely turn in their best performance. In FY22, their output is pegged at ₹17 lakh crore and ₹31 lakh crore, respectively, up from ₹15 lakh crore and ₹28 lakh crore.

The 9.2% growth forecast is a tad lower than earlier government estimate but is still among the fastest globally, said Vivek Rathi, director - research at Knight Frank India. "We hope to have a softer landing from the third wave and continue economic momentum without severe disruptions," he said.

According to Aditi Nayar, chief economist at ICRA, the impact of Omicron on GDP growth in the fourth quarter of FY22 would be around 40 basis points. "Compared to the pre-Covid performance of FY2020, the advance estimates project an anaemic rise of 1.3% and 1.9%, respectively, for GDP and GVA in FY2022. Most conspicuous amongst the disaggregated data is the weak performance of private final consumption expenditure and trade, hotel, transport, communication etc," she added.

According to experts, India's GDP could cross $3 trillion by the end of FY22 and GNI would cross $2,200 if the rupee-dollar exchange rate remains at 75.

Airtel to pay interest on spectrum, AGR dues; not to issue equity

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

SUNIL Mittal-led Bharti Airtel on Friday informed that it will pay the interest on deferred spectrum and adjusted gross revenue (AGR) liabilities and will not issue equity to the government.

The telecom operator said it had confirmed the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) that it would not avail the option of conversion of interest on deferred spectrum and AGR dues into equity.

"In furtherance to the earlier communication dated October 25, 2021 and in reference to the notification dated October 14, 2021 issued by the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) to the company, we wish to inform you that the company has confirmed to DoT that it will not avail the option of conversion of the interest on deferred spectrum and AGR dues into equity," said Airtel.

Last year, the government had taken several measures to protect the financially ailing telecom industry including a four-year break for companies from paying statutory dues, permission to share scarce airwaves, change in the definition of revenue on which levies are paid and 100% foreign investment through the automatic route. The move translated into a relief in the company's cash outflow. Subsequently, Airtel prepaid its entire liability of ₹15,519 crore from its 2014 acquisition of 128.4 MHz spectrum. The company had at the time said this would help in saving around ₹3,400 crore in interest expenses. As far as AGR dues are concerned, Airtel has already paid around ₹18,400 crore. Its balance AGR dues are ₹25,000 crore.

Not to avail the conversion option

The telecom operation said it had confirmed the DoT that it would not avail the option of conversion of interest on deferred spectrum and AGR dues into equity

Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea have already said they will opt for the four-year moratorium on payment of dues. The moratorium is expected to free up cash flow to the tune of thousands of crores for the telcos.

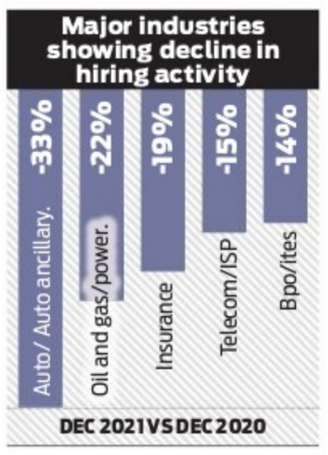
Auto, telecom, BPO, insurance & oil sectors see fall in hiring, says report

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

REFLECTING a negative hiring sentiment, major industries like auto, telecom, oil, BPO, insurance saw a fall in hiring in December, according to Naukri JobSpeak index released on Friday.

Sectors such as insurance (-19%), BPO (-14%), and FMCG (-12%) saw a decline in hiring activity in December this year over the same period last year, says the report.

"On the other hand, the software & IT sector continues to grow by 8% Y-O-Y. Real estate sector showed a growth of 8% in hiring activity for Dec '21. Sectors like travel and hospitality (+22%), retail (+20%) and education (+12%), have been showing good growth owing to the festive quarter and a rebound," the report said, adding other sectors that grew included BFSI (+3%) and advertising (+18%).



Pawan Goyal, Chief Business Officer, Naukri.com, commented on the report saying, "As companies continue to press the pedal on their digital transformation journeys, the demand for certain functional areas and sectors will keep growing."

While hiring for new applicants and young professionals was flat in Dec'21 over last year, demand witnessed a slump for professionals in the 8-12 years at (-4%) and 13-16 years (-9%) experience segments.

Geographically, the report notes that metros, except Delhi and Kolkata, witnessed growth. But amongst the emerging cities, barring Ahmedabad, other tier-2 cities such as Kochi, Coimbatore, Jaipur, and Chandigarh have shown a dip in hiring activity in Dec'21 vs Dec'20.

CCI orders fresh probe against Google

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

In an important development, the Competition Commission of India has ordered a fresh investigation against Google for abuse of its dominant position to deny fair advertising revenue to digital media organisation.

The commission has directed its investigation arm — Director General (DG) — to initiate a probe into the matter under the provisions of Section 26(1) of the Act and submit the report within 60 days.

The Digital News Publishers Association, which is into the business of news media has alleged that Google is the major stakeholder in the digital advertising space, and it unilaterally decides the amount to be paid to publishers for the content created by them, as well as the terms on which the aforesaid amounts have to be paid.

It further said that Google has substantial market share, not only in India but globally as well, and none of the competitors of Google have been able to match its market strength.

Digital News Publishers Association has alleged that by virtue of this dominant position, Google has been denying them a fair share of the revenue. Agreeing to the complainant, the CCI in its order says that it appears that news publishers are dependent on Google for the majority of the traffic, which makes Google an indispensable trading partner.

Hinduja Global stock hits 14-year low intraday on poor dividend payout

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

SHARES of Hinduja Global Solutions hit 20% lower circuit on Friday, its worst intraday fall in 14 years, after the company announced a lower-than-expected dividend, leaving investors highly disappointed. The stock closed the Friday session at ₹2,855.54 on the BSE.

The company, engaged in Business Process Outsourcing (BPO)/ Knowledge Process Outsourcing (KPO), had announced an interim dividend of ₹150 a share and one for one bonus share on Thursday. This came to ₹315 crore total dividend against $1.09 billion sale of its healthcare operations.

"On completed sale of healthcare services of the company, HGS received around ₹4,000 per equity share out of which only ₹150 per share is declared as interim dividend. Although this disinvestment will make capital available for the company to make investments and grow business in other verticals like telecom, BFSI and media etc," said Mohit Nigam, Head - PMS, Hem Securities.

Anita Gandhi, director at Arihant Capital Markets, said investors expected the dividend to be much larger after such a big deal.

Friday's slump in share price is in sharp contrast to the gain made by Hinduja in the past one month. The stock had hit a record high of ₹3,948 on Tuesday, January 4, 2022 after the company had informed exchanges regarding board meeting for considering interim dividend and a proposal for bonus issue of equity shares.

Hinduja Global recently announced completing the sale of its healthcare services operations to a wholly-owned subsidiary of Betaine BV, funds affiliated with Baring Private Equity Asia. Hinduja also approved to enhance the limits applicable for extending loans, making investments up to ₹3,500 cr.

Coutinho joins Villa on loan from Barcelona

Philippe Coutinho is joining Aston Villa on loan for the rest of the season from Barcelona, the Premier League club announced on Friday. The 29-year-old Brazil international moved to the Nou Camp from Liverpool in 2018 in a £142 million ($192 million) deal but struggled to establish himself and spent the 2019/20 season on loan at Bayern Munich.

ANGLES AND DEMONS

India batter Pant's inability to counter rival bowlers' angled deliveries from over the wicket a worrying trend

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

WHEN Kyle Jamieson went over the wicket to remove Rishabh Pant for four in the first innings of the World Test Championship final, it didn't seem like the beginning of an examination. The southpaw's wild slash — the percentages of properly executing that shot under overcast conditions with the ball moving across him was next to miniscule — and the edge was safely pouched by second slip. At the time, it was filed under 'Just Pant being Pant'.

A good five-and-a-half months later, one is not so sure. In hindsight, was that a bowler exposing a chink in Pant's long format armour? Before getting into the less than satisfactory numbers that Pant has had in Tests, the way he has been getting out in red ball cricket is a cause for concern. He has either been caught in the cordon or mid on or miff off have managed to snaffle him up off nothing shots thanks to bowlers switching to an over the wicket line. To counter that, he has tried to jump the pacers to upset their rhythm or change their line of attack. That clearly hasn't worked. It's a sign of a batter who doesn't trust his defence.

Against England in the first Test at Nottingham, Ollie Robinson came over the wicket to induce a leading edge to cover. It was after he induced both the outside edge and the top edge. In the first innings of the second Test at Lord's, Mark Wood came over the wicket and found his edge for a simple catch to the keeper. In the second innings, Robinson came over the wicket and got rid of him in similar circumstances.

In both the innings of the third Test at Leeds, that same angle found two edges. One was caught by Jos Buttler while the other was held by Craig Overton at third slip. Robinson was the bowler on both occasions. In the fourth Test, Chris Woakes used that angle to dismiss him. Pant, early in his innings, charged down the track. It caught the toe end and mid-off snaffled the offering.

The same thing has played itself out in South Africa as well. That over the wicket line by a right-arm pacer has caused his dismissal multiple times. In the second innings at Centurion, he charged down the track to Kagiso Rabada but didn't know whether to go through with the shot. In the end, he tamely chipped it to wide mid on. In the second innings of the second Test, he came down the track intent on sending Rabada out of the stadium but only managed to snick it through to the keeper. This is what happens when a guy is low on confidence and knows that a particular type of angle — moving across him on this occasion — is causing him problems.

Make no mistake, Pant's batting offers the side multiple solutions. His undoubted batting skills allow the management to play that additional specialist bowler — either seamer or spinner — home or away. This new chink in his armour may force the management to revisit this strategy. In his last seven Tests, he averages 19.23. In his previous seven Tests, that was 60.44.

So it wasn't a surprise when Rahul Dravid told the press after the second Test that they might have a chat with him. "We know Rishabh plays positively and he plays in a particular manner and that has got him a little bit of success," he said. "But yeah, of course there are times when we're going to have some level of conversations with him around, just a little bit of maybe just (shot) selection.

"(...) sometimes it's just about figuring out what is the right time to maybe attack or maybe play out a slightly difficult period that sets the game up for you or sets the innings up. He's learning. He plays in a particular way, so it's always something that he's going to keep learning, he's going to keep improving and keep getting better."

That Jamieson dismissal has been the start of something torrid in Pant's career. Every time he has lost his wicket to a right-arm seamer, it's been from over the wicket (10 times). More worryingly, six of those 10 times was when he was in single digits. There are no secrets in elite sport and more bowlers will cotton on to this line of attack against Pant to see if this is a weakness.

At Cape Town, both Rabada and Lungi Ngidi, two bowlers who have already dismissed him via this route, will be waiting. Will Pant be ready?

Arvind targets Asiad gold after rowing to nat'ls win

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE 2022 Asian Games gold medal has been his aim even before rower Arvind Singh qualified for the Tokyo Olympics along with his partner Arjun Lal Jat. The duo couldn't win a medal at the Olympics but created history by becoming the first double scullers from the country to reach the semifinals.

They had to part ways soon after the Olympics as weight gain by Arjun meant Arvind had to compete in single sculls at the Asian Championships held in Pattaya, Thailand last month. He won gold in his first attempt, though in the lightweight category, and decided to compete in single sculls at the ongoing 39th Senior National Rowing and 23rd Open Sprints Championships in the Army Rowing Node, Pune. The result remained the same on Friday but this time the top-finish was more satisfying as Arvind outpaced experienced Jakar Khan to clinch the top prize.

"This is the only event I am competing at the nationals and it's highly satisfying that I finished the race before Jakar, who has primarily been competing in single sculls," Arvind told this daily. He clocked 7:27.0s while Jakar's timing was 7:32.3s. Haryana's Parminder Singh finished third with the timing of 7:34.9s.

The show has boosted the Uttar Pradesh rower's confidence but he wants to work on his endurance ahead of the Asian Games to ensure he fulfils his dream of clinching gold at the quadrennial event. "Gold at the Asian Games is the goal. Although I haven't made up my mind yet but going forward, single sculls looks the event for me. I will think over it during the break which I will take after the nationals. But to finish first there, I think I need to work on my endurance. The show here seems good enough to finish on the podium but for a gold medal, there is a lot of scope for improvement. Fortunately, I have time to work on my weaknesses," added Arvind.

In other important results of the day, Dushyant and Sukhmeet Singh won the open men's double sculls. Tokyo Olympian Arjun and his partner Ravi finished second followed by Gurpratap Singh and Kirandeep Singh. In the men's lightweight double sculls, Arwinder Singh and Ajay Tyagi clinched the gold. Ashish Phugat and Sukhjinder Singh bagged silver while Jaspreet Singh and Bhagwan Singh pocketed bronze.

Khuspreet Kaur bagged the top prize in the open women's single sculls. Kiran Devi and Mrunmayee Salgaonkar finished second and third respectively in the event. The duo of Avinash Kaur and Kiran finished first in women's double sculls. Th Priya Devi and H Tendenthoi Devi won the silver while Deepika Xess and Reshma Kumari Minz finished with a bronze medal in the event.

Slow over-rates in T20Is to invite fielding penalties

PTI @Dubai

SLOW over-rates in T20 Internationals will invite stricter penalties now with the ICC on Friday announcing that teams which fail to keep up with the schedule will end up with one fielder less outside the 30-yard circle for the remainder of the innings, starting this month.

The governing body also introduced an optional drinks interval midway through the innings in bilateral T20 international cricket as part of its updated playing conditions.

The in-match penalties are in addition to the sanctions for slow over-rate outlined in Article 2.22 of the ICC Code of Conduct for Players and Player Support Personnel. The existing sanctions include demerit points and financial penalties on teams and their captains.

Ton-up Bairstow leads English fight

AFP @Sydney

JONNY Bairstow broke through for his first Test hundred in Australia and a wincing Ben Stokes reeled off a counter-punching half-century to help England recover from another collapse in the fourth Ashes Test in Sydney on Friday.

At the close England were 258 for seven, with Bairstow unbeaten on 103 with eight fours and three sixes, and Jack Leach not-out four to trail Australia by 158 runs.

Yorkshireman Bairstow screamed with delight after he cut Pat Cummins to the ropes to raise his third Ashes Test century, but the first Down Under.

Bairstow reached his ton on the third-last ball of the third day for England's first century in this series as he and Stokes led a recovery after England were in dire straits at 36 for four. England have already lost the Ashes but they at last showed some fight.

Stokes, grimacing in pain from a side strain picked up while bowling on Thursday, posted his highest score of the series with 66 to share in the rearguard. Stokes dug deep to club nine fours and a massive six off Nathan Lyon over extra cover but the off-spinner had the last word, trapping Stokes plumb lbw with a skidding delivery to end his brave 91-ball knock.

It was a gutsy effort from Stokes, who was unable to bowl when he returned to the field on Thursday after treatment.

Stokes had a massive slice of luck on 16 when he was given out, only to win a review when replays showed a Cameron Green delivery actually hit the off-stump but the bail somehow was not dislodged, much to his relief. Stokes shared in a restorative 128-run stand for the fifth wicket with Bairstow to pull England out of the mire. Lusty hitting from Mark Wood gave England further momentum before he was caught by Lyon at backward point off a Cummins lifter for 39 off 41 balls.

Brief scores: Australia 416/8 ded 134 ovs vs England 258/7 in 70 ovs (Stokes 66, Bairstow 103 batting, Wood 39, Cummins 2/68, Boland 2/25).

Bolstered by Valskis return, Chennaiyin seek victory against Goa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

RESULTS did not go according to plan for Chennaiyin FC in the last two weeks of 2021, suffering back-to-back losses. They conceded seven goals in the process. Hence, their last game against Jamshedpur FC on Sunday was a strong test of character. How would they bounce back? They impressed with a 1-0 win. Now as they prepare to face FC Goa in the ISL at the Athletic Stadium in Bambolim on Saturday, it is about building on that win and gathering steam with teams battling it out for the top four spot, which is a close affair.

A win over the Gaurs, and Chennaiyin, who are sixth at present, could climb to top two at the table. With players like Vladimir Koman, Anirudh Thapa, Lallianzuala Chhangte, Rahim Ali among others in the mix, they have all the ammunition to put up a good show against their opponents. Nerijus Valskis' return is also a mighty boost for the team as the Lithuanian, as was evident during the 2019-20 season, has the ability to find goals at will when he's on song.

Head coach Bozidar Bandovic is not reading too much on the near future, but just the Goa game. "We are satisfied with the way we have played so far despite having a new team. There are still many games left. I'm just focussing on the next game and it's important for me to win tomorrow (Saturday) and get three points," he said.

However, it is not going to be a walk in the park. Goa, who have always been known as one of the strongest sides in the league, are hungry for a win. With just nine points from nine matches and lying in the bottom three, they will be eager to turn the tables around and collect maximum points from the second half of the season.

Mumbai regain top spot

VASCO: SC East Bengal held reigning champions Mumbai City FC to a 0-0 draw. The result allowed the Islanders to reclaim the first place. However, their winless streak extends to four matches while SCEB is now 10 games without a win.

Facing deportation from Australia, Djokovic spends religious day in detention

AGENCIES @Melbourne

REGARDLESS of who made an error on the visa or the vaccination waiver or whatever, the reality on Friday for tennis No 1 Novak Djokovic was spending one of his important religious holidays in an Australian detention hotel working on his challenge against deportation.

Djokovic has been receiving calls from Serbia, including from his parents and the president, hoping to boost his spirits. A priest from the Holy Trinity Serbian Orthodox Church in Melbourne sought permission from immigration authorities to visit the nine-time Australian Open champion to celebrate the Orthodox Christmas. "Our Christmas is rich in many customs and it is so important that a priest visits him," the church's dean, Milorad Locard, told the Australian Broadcasting Corp. "The whole thing around this event is appalling. That he has to spend Christmas in detention ... it is unthinkable."

Djokovic's supporters gathered outside the Park Hotel, used to house refugees and asylum seekers near downtown Melbourne, waving flags and banners. They mixed with human rights advocates who were there more to highlight the plight of other longer-term people in detention, many who have long complained about their living conditions and exposure to the coronavirus in the pandemic.

A day after both the prime minister and the home affairs minister said it was the responsibility of the individual to have their visa documents in order, it seemed to dawn on people locally that whatever mistakes happened in the process, one of the highest-profile athletes in the world was in detention.

Djokovic flew to Australia confident he had everything he needed to compete, given he had been approved by Victoria state government for a medical exemption. That same evidence didn't comply with the Australian government's regulations.

So, instead of preparing to defend his Australian Open title, and bid to win a men's-record 21st Major title, he's preparing to go to the Federal Circuit Court on Monday to challenge his visa cancellation and deportation.

Czech player's visa cancelled

Australia has cancelled the visa of female Czech tennis player Renata Voracova who entered the country to play in this month's Australian Open, her government said on Friday.

"Renata Voracova is in the same detention as Djokovic," the Czech foreign ministry told AFP in an email. The ministry said that Voracova had agreed to leave Australia.

Kazakhstan president rejects talks, tells forces to 'kill without warning'

Tokayev vows to destroy 'armed bandits', ridicules calls for negotiations as 'nonsense'

ALMATY

KAZAKHSTAN'S president on Friday rejected calls for talks with protesters after days of unprecedented unrest, vowing to destroy "armed bandits" and authorising his forces to shoot to kill without warning. In a hardline address, Kassym-Jomart Tokayev also gave "special thanks" to Russian President Vladimir Putin after a Moscow-led military alliance sent troops to Kazakhstan to help quell the unrest.

Security forces had blocked off strategic areas of Almaty — the country's largest city and epicentre of the recent violence — and were firing into the air if anyone approached. Elsewhere the city was like a ghost town, with banks, supermarkets and restaurants closed. The few small shops that remained open were quickly running out of food.

Tokayev said order had mostly been restored across the country, after protests this week over fuel prices escalated into widespread violence. "Terrorists continue to damage property... and use weapons against civilians. I have given the order to law enforcement to shoot to kill without warning," he said in his third televised address to the nation this week.

He ridiculed calls from abroad for negotiations as "nonsense". "We are dealing with armed and trained bandits, both local and foreign. With bandits and terrorists. So they must be destroyed. This will be done shortly."

Long seen as one of the most stable of the ex-Soviet republics of Central Asia, energy-rich Kazakhstan is facing its biggest crisis in decades. Protesters stormed government buildings in Almaty on Wednesday and fought running battles with police and the military.

The interior ministry said 26 "armed criminals" had been killed in the unrest, after earlier reporting "dozens" dead. It said 18 security officers had been killed and more than 740 wounded, and more than 3,800 people detained.

The numbers could not be independently verified and there was no official information about dead and wounded among civilian bystanders.

In a message to Tokayev, China's President Xi Jinping praised him for taking "strong measures" and "being highly responsible for your country and your people".

Tokayev said Almaty had been under assault from "20,000 bandits" with a "clear plan of attack, coordination of actions and high combat readiness." He blamed "so-called free media" and unnamed foreign figures for instigating the violence, adding: "Democracy is not permissiveness."

Protests spread across the nation of 19 million this week in outrage over a New Year increase in prices for liquid petroleum gas, which is used to fuel many cars in the country.

Thousands took to the streets in Almaty and in the western province of Mangystau, saying the price rise was unfair given oil and gas exporter Kazakhstan's vast energy reserves.

Much of the anger appeared directed at Nazarbayev, 81, who had ruled Kazakhstan since 1989 before handing power to Tokayev. Critics have accused Nazarbayev and his family of staying in control behind the scenes and accumulating vast wealth at the expense of the citizens.

The ex-president has not made an appearance since the start of the crisis and there were unconfirmed reports of him and members of his family fleeing the country. AFP

Anxiety over history and identity shadows French presidential fight

PARIS

French President Emmanuel Macron with the Republicans' Valerie Pecresse | AP

IN a country long on edge over questions of identity and belonging, flying the EU flag over France's tomb of the unknown soldier at the Arc de Triomphe was almost guaranteed to trigger fierce opposition. Bristling reactions to the New Year gesture, meant by pro-EU President Emmanuel Macron to mark Paris' taking over the bloc's rotating presidency, rained down from the right of the political spectrum.

It was an "attack on the identity of our fatherland," fumed far-right presidential candidate Marine Le Pen, echoed both by her rival, the far-right pundit Eric Zemmour and left-wing firebrand Jean-Luc Melenchon. Macron's best-placed opponent, Republicans candidate Valerie Pecresse, went further, suggesting the president "has a problem with French history".

While the row blew over with the removal of the outsize banner, it was symptomatic of a countdown to the April presidential vote marked by repeated clashes over the national narrative.

History "is a question that obsesses the right of the French political spectrum, matching an anxiety of French society," said political scientist Jean Garrigues.

Two-thirds of French people agree that "France's identity is disappearing", a survey by pollsters Ifop published in early January found, while more than four in five believe "some political personalities co-opt questions related to identity".

Rather than EU integration or immigration, though, respondents identified the top threats to their identity as a weaker economy, deindustrialisation and unemployment.

"French political actors understand you have to keep updating history, especially the parts that won't go away, like the Algerian war," said political scientist Pascal Perrineau. "That was a civil war that left extremely deep traces in our collective life, which created divisions, even if those are gradually vanishing." AFP

Abdul Ghani Baradar

Taliban deputy PM calls for aid without bias

KABUL

THE Taliban's deputy prime minister on Friday urged the global community to offer support to Afghan people without any "political bias" as the country faces a major humanitarian crisis.

"In various places right now, people do not have food, accommodation, warm clothes, or money," Mullah Abdul Ghani Baradar said in a video message. "The world has to support Afghan people without any political bias and carry out their humanitarian obligations."

Baradar said the weather had worsened the plight of the people, adding that the Taliban were prepared to help with the distribution of international aid across the country. Global aid agencies have warned that more than half of Afghanistan's 38 million people are expected to face hunger, with inflation and unemployment surging.

No country has yet formally recognised the Taliban government in Afghanistan and diplomats face the delicate task of channelling aid to the stricken economy without propping up the hardline Islamists. AFP

Germany, France 'agree to disagree' on nuclear power

BERLIN

GERMANY and France have "agreed to disagree" on the European Union's (EU) move to label nuclear energy as green, German Europe Minister Anna Luehrmann said on Friday, denying any conflict between the two European giants on the issue. The European Commission has issued a draft proposal to label nuclear energy, along with natural gas, as "green" sources eligible for investment under rules for promoting a carbon-neutral future.

France has led the charge for nuclear power — its main energy source — to be included on the list, while Germany, which is in the process of shutting all its nuclear plants, remains fiercely opposed to the move.

"We know what the French position is on nuclear power and the French side knows very well what the German position is," Luehrmann said. "So we can say we agree to disagree on the issue and then turn to the issues where we want to move forward... from climate protection to sustainable investments, to the issue of European strategic sovereignty."

The green energy list, known as the EU's "taxonomy", was meant to have landed before the end of 2021, but deep divisions between member states have held it up. The European Commission quietly distributed a draft text of its plans on New Year's Eve and said it had started consulting with member states on the proposal. If a majority of member states back it, it will become EU law, coming into effect from 2023.

France, which gets about 70% of its power from nuclear, signed a statement supporting nuclear power with nine other EU states in October, including Poland and the Czech Republic.

But Germany's Environment Minister Steffi Lemke has said it would be "absolutely wrong" to include nuclear energy on the list, arguing that atomic power "can lead to devastating environmental catastrophes".

Germany shut down three of its six remaining nuclear power plants late last year and will close the others by the end of 2022, following Angela Merkel's timetable for phasing out atomic energy.

"We have made it very clear as the entire federal government that we are against the inclusion of nuclear as a sustainable financial product," Luehrmann said. "We have to go in a different direction for climate reasons, but also for reasons of political independence, and I see that as an argument against both gas and nuclear energy. Because the uranium has to come from somewhere," she said.

However, Luehrmann conceded that "we also know that we are not the majority in Europe" on the issue. AFP

Trailblazing Black movie star Poitier no more

LOS ANGELES

SIDNEY POITIER, the pioneering Black movie star who led the fight for racial equality in film many decades before the #OscarsSoWhite and Black Lives Matter movements, has died. He was 94.

The trailblazing thespian became the first male Black star nominated for an Academy Award with 1958's The Defiant Ones and, six years later, was the first to win the best actor Oscar for his performance in Lilies of the Field.

Collecting his historic award, Poitier told the glamorous audience of mainly white contemporaries it had been "a long journey to this moment" — but it would be a barely conceivable 38 years until Denzel Washington matched his achievement in that same category.

Poitier, whose death was announced by the government of the Bahamas, held dual US and Bahamian nationality. AFP

At least 16 dead in building collapse

Beijing: At least 16 people died when an explosion triggered by a suspected gas leak caused a building to collapse Friday in the Chinese city of Chongqing, state media said. The blast at 12:10 pm (0410 GMT) brought down a neighbourhood committee building housing a canteen, trapping 26 people, the Xinhua news agency said. In the early hours of Saturday, Xinhua put the new death toll at 16, with 10 more injured, one of them critically. On Friday, the Chongqing government had put the initial death toll at nine. Videos and photos from Xinhua showed orange-clad workers in hard hats climbing through the rubble on Friday night under floodlights. As of midnight, all those trapped had been pulled out. The injured people are receiving medical treatment. AFP

Nine die, hundreds fall ill in typhoon-hit regions

Manila: Nine people have died and hundreds have fallen ill with diarrhoea in areas of the Philippines wrecked by a typhoon last month, with aid officials warning of a health crisis as millions struggle to secure clean water and food. Three weeks after Typhoon Rai struck southern and central islands, destroying thousands of homes and killing more than 400 people, relief work continues to deliver supplies to stranded residents left homeless by the storm. A total of 895 cases have been recorded in the area since the typhoon struck, mostly among those left homeless. AFP

JAPAN

Move to extend US military support

Tokyo: Japan moved ahead with an expansion of support to US troops as the allies held top-level talks on Friday over tensions with China and North Korea. US Secretary of State Antony Blinken announced the two nations were signing a five-year extension of the support package provided by Japan for the hosting of around 50,000 US troops on its soil. The new agreement "will invest greater resources to deepen our military readiness and interoperability", Blinken said at the opening of four-way virtual talks between the allies' foreign and defence chiefs. "Our allies must not only strengthen the tools we have but also develop new ones," Blinken said on Thursday in Washington. Tokyo pays the costs of the US forces in the country as well as utilities. WHAT DAY IS IT?

Weekend switch in effect, UAE works on Friday for first time

DUBAI

EMPLOYEES and schoolchildren juggled work and studies with weekly Muslim prayers on the first ever working Friday in the United Arab Emirates (UAE) as the Gulf country formally switched to a Saturday-Sunday weekend. Some grumbled at the change and businesses were split, with many moving to the Western-style weekend but other private firms sticking with Fridays and Saturdays, as in other Gulf states.

The weekly day of prayer has always been a free day in the UAE, which had previously observed a Thursday-Friday weekend until 2006.

However, mosques appeared busy as worshippers carrying prayer mats arrived as usual, before many of them later headed back to the office.

"I'd rather take (Friday) off," said 22-year-old Briton Rachel King, who works in the hospitality industry and has been living in Dubai for six months. "That is what we all know and love, having a Friday off and going to certain places that are open and we could do things. But now it is going to be Saturday." The UAE made the surprise announcement of the weekend switch for the public sector in December as it grapples with rising competition in international business from other Gulf countries, particularly Saudi Arabia.

Muslim men perform the noon prayer in an area close to their workplace on the first working Friday in the emirate of Dubai | AFP

Government bodies and schools will operate four-and-a-half-days per week, closing at 12 pm on Fridays for a fixed prayer time of 1:15 pm, whereas the Muslim prayer schedule usually depends on the position of the sun.

Out of 195 businesses polled by human resources consultancy Mercer, only 23 percent were preparing to follow the four-and-a-half-day week, but more than half would switch to Saturday-Sunday weekends.

"Luckily I have the same days off as my kids, but that's not the case for my husband," said Fati, who works in an international distribution company, asking not to give her full name. "He works for a multinational that hasn't changed its schedule for the moment. I hope they will do it quickly, otherwise our family life will be ruined."

Nearly a third of companies are worried about the impact of being out of sync with other countries in the region, the Mercer poll found.

"We work a lot with Egypt and Saudi Arabia," said Rana, an employee of an events company who said some of her teams would have to work on Sundays.

Dubai's financial district was unusually quiet on Friday with large numbers working remotely, especially at a time of rising Covid levels when many children are also doing online schooling.

"Today is the first working Friday, it feels a bit weird," said Ahmad Bilbisi, 34, a banking employee. "It makes sense to me, at least for the banking industry. We are now working on the same day as everyone else in the world."

The new arrangement was a major talking point on social media, with one Twitter user complaining "it just feels so wrong". "My body and mind have fully acclimatised to having Fridays off. I think today is going to a long hard struggle," the tweet reads.

Sharjah, an emirate neighbouring Dubai, has found a simple solution: mandating Friday, Saturday and Sunday as a three-day weekend. AFP

EXTENSIVELY RESEARCHED

The case is considered remarkable because of scorch marks left by the machine, documented and extensively analysed by French authorities

REEL-TIME CHANGES

With OTT platforms having really come of their own, industry insiders tell how the very understanding of what defines a 'theatre film' seems to be undergoing an evolution

BHUVANESH CHANDAR

UP until very recently, a film automatically meant a 'theatre film'. Even if you saw it on televisions later, there remained no doubt that these were made for the theatre, keeping in mind the atmosphere and the facilities within. And yet, following the arrival of OTT platforms — accelerated by the pandemic—it appears that the situation is delicately poised now. The stakeholders need to be really, really convinced about the 'theatre potential' of a film, if they are to resist the obvious temptation of selling the release rights to a streaming platform. Last year saw some fairly enjoyable theatre experiences in the form of Krack, Master, Doctor, Pushpa: The Rise, and Spiderman: No Way Home, even while OTT platforms kept the releases ticking alongside.

Tamil producer SR Prabhu believes that the distinction between OTT and theatre films is real now, and more visible than ever. "The budget of the film plays a big part. Sometimes, we can tell that a film won't pull audiences into the theatres," he says. And that's why you largely see the small and medium budget films making it to OTT platforms, as it's believed that the financials enable such releases to be profitable for the stakeholders.

Vivek Ramadevan, an entertainment and marketing consultant, believes that theatre-going habits have changed. "Even before the pandemic, studies showed that footfall in theatres was dropping, except, say in the Telugu market, where the theatre culture is still strong. With the arrival of OTT platforms, people realised that they could just wait a while before being able to catch films at home."

And this is why the industry seems to be demarcating between what constitutes a theatre film and what doesn't. Saagar K Chandra, the director of the upcoming star vehicle, Bheemla Nayak, starring Pawan Kalyan and Rana Daggubati, sees larger-than-life characters as being an important part of the theatre film. "Such characters add to the cinematic experience," he says. Director Chimbudevan, whose hyperlink film Kasada Tapara made its way to SonyLIV, believes that content that can succeed across languages is better suited for OTT platforms. "Squid Game, for instance, went viral, despite being a series rooted in the ethos of Korea. That's because the theme is universal," he says.

Dhananjayan, formerly a part of Sony LIV's selection committee, shares that OTT platforms prioritise content that they believe will generate 'conversation'. "Tamil films like Yennanga Sir Unga Sattam, Sivaranjiniyum Innum Sila Pengalum, Mandela, and Aelay all come under this category." And while it's generally believed that star vehicles are appropriate for theatres, he adds that OTT players are also keen on their presence in their content. This causes concern, according to Bollywood director Kunal Kohli. "Where will new talents emerge then? If OTT players too want the established stars, how are we going to develop new talent?" But that's a discussion for another day. What's clear though is that everyone wants a piece of the pie when stars are involved.

The importance of a star seems to be getting bigger, and perhaps we might even see a change in what is thought of as a star film

Weekend planner

Not sure what to do on Saturday and Sunday with the curfew on? Here are some fun activities to keep yourself busy

EXPRESS FEATURES

THE weekend curfew has officially begun and goes on till Monday 5 am. While things seemed like they were back to normal and everyone had started making weekend plans, the rise in the cases has once again brought back to planning everything at home. So, here are some activities you can do at home and keep yourselves busy.

GO GREEN

Take time to mend the weeds, pot and re-pot those little ones that needed extra care. There are plenty of home remedies you can try to revive the plants. A simple Google search can answer those questions for you.

DIY MEAL

Recall those recipes you've been saving after watching plenty of Instagram reels? Try them out and share it on your social media account – make your friends envious in the process!

ORDER IN

So what if you can't dine-in at restaurants? You can do a takeaway order this weekend. If you don't feel like cooking, order dishes of your choice, put on a good movie and relish the good food. This could also be of help to the restaurateurs who are concerned about sales dropping after the rise in the number of cases.

BOOKMARK'ED'

Bought a book that you haven't started reading or haven't been able to finish? Make time for that and perhaps you can even finish the whole book over the weekend. There's one on the list of things to accomplish this year!

SWEAT IT OUT

Remember that New Year resolution of getting fit? It's time to get cracking on them. Follow some YouTube tutorials and work those muscles. If nothing else, just walk around the house while watching your favourite show (check out CE's recommendation in Watch List). Or just turn up the music and get dancing, it makes for a great workout too!

SKILLING UP

Physical shows may be cancelled but check listing websites that offer online shows and workshops.

VIRTUAL CONNECT

Go back to the digital ways of reconnecting with your friends and family. Also try online games – remember those nights you spent playing Ludo for hours online? That's a cool idea to revive!

ME-TIME

Even with all these activities we've listed for you, don't forget to get your 'me-time'. It could be anything from meditation, having a hot shower or just sitting by yourself for some time to collect your thoughts. Be sure to take care of your mental health as these are tiring times.

FIT BIT

VASTRA DHAUTI

(YOGIC CLEANSING OF STOMACH WITH CLOTH)

This is one of the Hatha yoga purification techniques known as the Shatkarmas, which are designed to cleanse the inner body. There are six Shatkarmas, in which Dhauti purifies the upper digestive tract. Dhauti is a method that uses a long strip cloth that is ingested and then pulled out. For practice, you need a clean strip of cotton cloth 2-3 inches wide and about 20-25 feet long. Prepare a bowl of warm salt water, dip the long cotton cloth in it to make it wet. Also, keep a glass of warm water for drinking ready at hand.

STEPS
- Sit in a squatting position or Utkatasana. Sukasana with a straight spine is also fine.
- Take one end of a moist cloth and insert into the mouth. Let the other end rest in the bowl. Hold the cloth near the mouth and slowly start swallowing the cloth. This may seem difficult in the beginning. Beginners, try swallowing just 1 or 2 feet on the first day. The second day you can increase the length to 3 feet and so on.
- Sip water to help you in the swallowing process. Continue the process till the full length of the cloth is inside. Make sure you leave at least half feet of cloth outside.
- Churn and rotate the stomach from side to side. Those who know the practice of Nauli may also perform that.
- Keep the cloth inside for a maximum of 20 minutes. If you keep it longer, the cloth may end up in the small intestine.
- Pull the cloth out of the mouth very slowly. The cloth will be wet with a lot of mucus and other sticky substances from the inner lining of the intestinal tract.

BENEFITS
- The mucus from the chest is removed.
- Relaxes respiratory muscles and their functions.
- Practitioner has to control the sensation of vomiting, which helps to tune the autonomic nervous system.
- Removes excess Kabha and Pitta.
- Helps in the course of advanced breathing techniques.
- Removes gas, acidity, indigestion and enlargement of spleen.
- Helps to relieve asthma, bronchitis, and cough.

LIMITATIONS
- Those suffering from heart problems, or very weak or running a fever should not practise this.
- Women should avoid this during the menstrual cycle.

OLD WINE IN NEW BOTTLES

IT'S the same old day. The sun is shining and trees and the birds are doing their stuff, but once again there is an eerie silence. The type of ominous silence that used to befall us after we listened to ghost stories at night with an older sibling holding on to a quavering torch and the dim lights casting spectral shadows on terrified faces. Well, it's back... the boogeyman virus with its mutated cell structure is back to scare the living tripe out of us!

This time around, I found that people have decided they are invincible after being vaccinated. Though the recurrence of re-infection is high, there is a rumour floating around that 'the Omicron' is a wuss...and the pharma companies in connivance with the government are creating a sense of panic. Now, even for a person like me who is ready to believe the worst from the 'men-in-white', this conspiracy theory is a little hard to swallow. The elections are coming up and every party is wanting 'to party' with their supporters! Very little has changed. We are midway between an ineffectual and appeasing quasi-lockdown, the industry bigwigs are pushing for 'opening-up,' citing highfalutin marketing principles and we, the teeming working class, timidly agree...using our WhatsApp and Google degrees as a barometer for all things right and truthful.

I was invited to the 'first' sundowner of 2022 by good friend Reuben Kataria, GM of the newly opened Leela, Bharatiya City. Reuben is no push-over and has a tight rein on his hotel. When he sensed my hesitancy, he quietly informed me that all guests will be asked to show their double vaccinated and RT-PCR certification. His latest restaurant Falak on the 17th floor, overlooks an expanse of open space, where on a good day, one can espy the Nandi Hills. This vista calls for the most spectacular sunset views and my clever friend, Reuben, did just that. He converted a 10 pm curfew situation into an early dark-type evening! A hand-full of us got to marvel at the stunning sunset colours, drinking our champagne and eventually having an early dinner. Not bad at all if we can convert a situation into 'paying off' for us rather than being a deterrent. All of us present were happy and done by the 10 pm 'witching hour'! When we came home, my husband commented saying, 'not such a bad idea after all!'

Kripal and Shree Amanna, and Shivani Darshan

We are now at the apex of a situation where it can convert into the dreaded third wave or a national tragedy in a blink of an eye.

I read something really poignant and I think it will resonate with most of us — I'm fully vaccinated .... No, I don't know "what's in it". Neither this vaccine nor the ones I had as a child. I also don't know exactly what's in any painkiller, except that they treat my headaches & my pains. I don't know what's in Botox and fillers, or every ingredient in my soap, shampoo or deodorants. I don't know the long term effect of mobile phone use, or whether any restaurant really used clean foods and washed their hands.

There are a lot of things I don't know. I do know one thing: life is short. And I, personally, still want to travel and hug my loved ones without fear; I definitely don't want to die or clutter up a hospital bed if I'm sick and I need to find a little feeling of life "before".

Throughout my life, I've been vaccinated against many diseases. We trusted the science, and never had to suffer through or transmit any of those diseases.

I'm vaccinated. Not because I'm a sheep or to please the government or to make other people do it...

I can't say it any clearer. I'm vaccinated for me and I wear a mask for you.

SUDEEP'S

VIKRANT RONA

OFFERED A WHOPPING PRICE FOR A DIRECT OTT RELEASE?

Producer Manjunath Gowda confirms that they have got offers from various streaming platforms

Sudeep

A SHARADHAA

THE rise of Covid cases, rescheduling of big-ticket films, has given rise to speculations stating that the major multilingual films from Kannada cinema might get a direct OTT streaming release. Going by the latest buzz, it has been said that, the Pan India film Vikrant Rona starring Sudeep has been offered a whopping price for a direct digital release, from various popular streaming platforms.

The postponement of Pan India films like SS Rajamouli's RRR has reportedly triggered the makers of Vikrant Rona and we learn that the makers might consider the offer if a theatrical release isn't possible.

Producer Manjunath Gowda shares that Vikrant Rona is a visual spectacle and especially the 3D is meant for theatres. "We want the audience to experience it on the big screen. However, if we don't have the option of a theatrical release, we will have to consider the offer from OTTs. As of now, we want to release the film in theatres."

Vikrant Rona was recently confirmed to hit the theatres on February 24, and according to Manjunath, they still wish to stick to the original date announced. "As of now, there are no plans of postponing the release date. We will have to take a call if the situation gets worse," says the producer.

Vikrant Rona directed by Anup Bhandari, presented by Zee Studios, is a multilingual action-adventure that be released in 14 languages and 55 countries. The film, backed by the production house, Shalini Manjunath, and co-produced by Alankar Pandian also stars Nirup Bhandari and Neetha Ashok. Jacqueline Fernandes also plays an important role in the film. The film has music by Ajaneesh Loknath and William David has handled the cinematography.

'IT'S ALL EVOLUTION'

Yash

Pawan Kumar

RAKESH, the proprietor of Vettri Theatres, Chennai, sees the 'mood of a film' as being an essential factor in this conversation. "Look at theatre films like Master, Doctor, Pushpa: The Rise, Spiderman: No Way Home... You will see that they were either star vehicles or were films that prioritised conventional entertainment. Films with dark and sad themes are better suited for OTT platforms," he believes.

Filmmaker Pawan Kumar, whose Telugu sci-fi thriller, Kudi Yedamaithe, got released on Aha, distinguishes OTT and theatre films as 'personal' and as 'larger-than-life', respectively. In 'larger-than-life films', there is an emphasis on 'theatre moments'—like a rousing interval block, for instance. "You can see this in the response to films like Pushpa. The importance of a star seems to be getting bigger, and perhaps we might even see a change in what is thought of as a star film," producer Dhananjayan says. He may well be speaking of how Pushpa: The Rise, despite being a star vehicle, still plays with character morality, and digs deep into a criminal operation like red sanders smuggling.

Director Kunal, whose Lahore Confidential found its way to Zee5, and whose Ramyug, despite being conceived for theatres, got released as a series in MX Player, hopes that content will not be segregated on the basis of budget. And like him, many other filmmakers have been at the receiving end of last-minute decisions to change the platform of release. Director Chimbudevan agrees that there isn't much clarity for filmmakers while a film is being made. "Sometimes, decisions are taken even after the censor clearance. It's hard for us filmmakers to write content, as the experience differs dramatically based on how it's consumed. It helps when OTT platforms sign direct deals with the creator and fund a film," says the director.

And it is for lack of such transparency in decision-making that we end up with theatre moments playing out underwhelmingly on our television screens. Karthik Subbaraj's Jagame Thanthiram, starring Dhanush, which came out on Netflix, is a good example of this. Consultant Vivek Ramadevan believes that if the filmmakers had assurances on where their work would come out, they could design the experience accordingly. Actor Roshan Mathew, who starred in Anurag Kashyap's Choked: Paisa Bolta Hai, speaks of how the team knew that the film would be an OTT release right from the word go. "That wasn't the case with my Malayalam film, CU Soon, though (which came out on Amazon Prime). I find that OTT releases offer more freedom," he says. Incidentally, Fahadh Faasil, also a part of CU Soon, had been quoted saying that the OTT version was quite different from what was planned for the theatre version, and even suggested that plans could be in place to have another version released separately in theatres.

The coming year will tell us more, what with star vehicles like Valimai, RRR, and KGF 2, which were all conceived before the pandemic, set to come out. As Chimbudevan says, "It's all evolution. From drama came silent movies, and then came the talkies, cinemascope, and so on. I believe that the distinction between OTT content and theatre films will become more visible in the future."

HUMBLE POLITICIANN NOGRAJ

Cast: Saad Khan

Director: Danish Sait, Vinay Chendoor, Prakash Belawadi, and Disha Madan

Streaming on: Voot Select

NOGRAJ IS BACK AND CHUTZPAH IS INTACT

A SHARADHAA

HUMBLE Politician Nograj, directed by Saad Khan, was released in 2018 and explored Nograj's aspirations to become an MLA and the kind of opposition he faces. The sequel, coming after four years, has the Humble Politician Nograj, now as an MLA, aspiring to become the Chief Minister of Karnataka, but this time as a web series.

Political topics have been a staple for some filmmakers, and this Danish Sait-fronted socio-political-satire web series by director Saad Khan, recalls the high drama that took place in the Karnataka assembly a couple of years ago. The fictitious 10-episode series revolves around an election season, and is about three political parties — Most Secular Party (MSP)'s KGB Krishna Gundu Bala (Prakash Belavadi), Karan Kapoor's (Varun Thakur) Family Run Party (FRP), and OBP lead by Humble Politician Nograj (Danish Sait). With a hung assembly seeming an inevitability, the narrative explores the consequences faced by MLAs during such times. Nothing is spared as the series discusses resort politics, horse-trading, political fights, blackmail, the issue between authority and the majority, interferences from the powers that be, a helpless Governor, and the role of the media. Over 30-minute episodes, we see whether Nograj succeeds in becoming the CM.

A lot of thought has gone into the writing by Saad Khan and Danish Sait. It is obvious that parts of the episodes have reference to the high voltage drama of Karnataka's coalition government, and Saad Khan with an ensemble cast gives a satirical peek into the murky world of politics. Danish Sait shoulders all the limelight, and the actor, an internet sensation, has by now mastered the art of humour, whether it is radio, big screen, on the cricket pitch, or web series, he perfectly fits the iconic character created by him. Danish aces the physicality of the character as much as he rocks the performance. It isn't easy for everybody to bring out the funny side of a serious issue, and Danish does it well. His character gets complete in the company of Manjunath, played by Vijay Chendoor, and the series is elevated even further by an epic performance by Prakash Belawadi. The veteran actor, who can effortlessly emote a serious role, shows that his comic timing is equally on point. The conversations between these two characters get interesting in the final few episodes. Disha Madan, as a channel reporter Simi, Varun Thakur as Karan Kapoor, Shalini as Prakash Belawadi's wife form integral parts of the ensemble cast, and they put up a commendable act.

RATING 3/5

The only flaw of this series, which dwells more in the urban space with characters mainly speaking in a mix of Kannada and English, is the length. Having ten episodes of 30-minutes each make it quite a long watch. There is a restlessness that sets in, and we hope for a conclusion to the political affairs at the centre of Humble Politician Nograj. However, the topic is very relevant and acts more as a reality check that also highlights the fickle nature of media attention, including social media influences etc...

Politics is a serious affair, and Humble Politician Nograj definitely manages to add a comic spin to an important issue that is showcased more as a leisurely watch at the comfort of our homes.
